DAILY GAZETTE.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

McClellan was selected by Jeff. Davis himself, who was the secretary of war, to go to the Crimea to observe the great battles. It will be a little curious if the knowledge which he there gained should be the means of overthrowing the man who put him in position to receive the instruction.

WELL PUT.—While one of the chaplains of the army was repeating this line of the Lord's prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread"—a soldier added with a loud voice—"fresh."

The Austrians have an odd way of increasing the circulation of newspapers.—The police recently closed twenty-seven coffee houses in Venice because they refused to take the Verona Gazette.

Forged-iron plates have been used as targets for the 128-pound Armstrong gun and have proved superior to rolled iron in resisting shot. In a plate of six and a half inches in thickness only an indention of two inches was made at a distance of 400 yards. A plate of two inches thickness, placed at one hundred yards distance, resisted the force of a twelve pound shot, but a forty pound shot passed through it.

WAR SPIRIT IN HENRY COUNTY, ILL.—The board of supervisors in Henry county, in this state, have appropriated ten thousand dollars for the purpose of equipping volunteer companies raised in that county, and for the support of the families of soldiers. Three auditing commissioners have been appointed for disbursing the fund appropriated. It is proposed to uniform four companies in addition to the one which entered the service under the ten regiment bill.

WHAT MR. BUCHANAN'S NEIGHBORS SAY ABOUT HIM.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal who has been traveling through Pennsylvania, writes:

A neighbor of Mr. Buchanan was in the cars. He represents that the ex-president has long been dangerously sick from sheer exhaustion. He has little sympathy from his fellow townsmen, who upbraid him as being the author of all our national troubles. He is obliged to hear much that must wound him, and letters by the basketful are sent to him full of abuse and calumny, and so much so that while he was sick his friends would not allow him to see any letters, unless they knew where they were from. Miss Lane is represented as making herself agreeable to all who call, and keeping open house to all who come to Wheatland, with that same grace that made her so popular at the White House.

ANECDOTE OF FLOYD.—An anecdote is told us of Floyd, the great Virginia thief, which we have not seen in print. A few years since, a gentleman residing in Richmond, Virginia, gave a large dinner party to some distinguished men, among whom was Floyd, then a rising man, but whose personal appearance indicated neither mental nor physical superiority, he being a pursy, dark-complexioned man, with cripsy, wiry hair. Among the distinguished guests were two Indian chiefs, returning from a visit to their "Great Father," the President—magnificent specimens of their race.—Floyd, thinking to compliment them, and make them at their ease, told them, in a condescending manner, that he could boast of Indian blood in his veins, being a descendant of Pocahontas. One of the chiefs, drawing himself up majestically and disdainfully, and with a look of contempt upon his noble countenance, said in broken English, "Ugh! no! no! nigur! nigur!" The confusion and dismay of Floyd was complete, and it required all the boasted politeness of Richmond society to keep the other guests from exploding with laughter.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The 5th Connecticut regiment, Col. Orris S. Ferry, of Norwalk, which has just gone to the war, was known as "Colonel Colt's regiment" during its earlier formation, the colonel offering to arm and equip it himself. His patriotic offer was duly rewarded by complimentary mention in Gov. Buckingham's message, and by a legislative vote of thanks; and after he had got this he backed down, remanded his rifles, and threw the regiment on the state. So the people of Connecticut don't call it "Col. Colt's regiment" any longer.

A FUNNY FUGITIVE.—A runaway slave who made his way to Cairo, where he did good service in the entrenchments, was asked if he did not wish to go back and fight. He replied with a grimace, "Laws, no, Massee, dis nigger is not a fightin' nigger! he's a runnin' nigger,"

A LITTLE TOO SMART FOR AN UNPRINCIPLED HUSBAND.—A German of Chicago, named Henry Geyer, some years ago procured an Indiana divorce from his wife.—This he kept, to use as occasion offered, and continued to live with Mrs. Geyer as before. Recently he thought it would be a pleasant thing to bring the document in force, and so produced it, when the sharp woman's wit of the wife checkmated him entirely, by procuring his arrest for bastardy, as the father of her unborn child. So Mr. Geyer was taken to jail, and is there held awaiting a hearing. He professes himself willing to marry her over again, and sink the Indiana divorce.

Milton was once asked, "How is it that in some countries a king is allowed to take his place on the throne at fourteen years of age, but may not marry until he is eighteen?" "Because," said the poet, "it is easier to govern a kingdom than a woman."

CANNON FOR WASHINGTON.—A battery of rifled cannon, borrowed from the state of New York, will be sent to Washington this afternoon. These are ten pounder Parrott guns. They are mounted and ready for use. Ten twenty-pounders, not mounted, are also to be sent, with a quantity of shots and shell.—N. Y. Post, 3d.

A WISCONSIN SOLDER.—In the battle of Bull's Run, Henry Benson of Kenosha county, Wis., fought gallantly with his regiment, the 2d Wisconsin. He was first shot through the hand, and exclaimed, "There! goes one hand for the Union. Rally, boys, and down with the traitors!" Just then a ball struck him near the heart. He died, exclaiming, "Tell my father I die like a man fighting for the Union."

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED

FOR

Getting up Clubs.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly!

THE Democrat will continue to be a faithful advocate and supporter of the principles of the republican party. Its energies will be especially devoted to the west—to the advocacy of western interests and the assertion of western rights. The administration of Abraham Lincoln shall receive its cordial and unfaltering support. The great measures of a Pacific railroad on the central route; free lands for the landless; the improvement of river navigation; retrenchment and reform in all the departments of the federal government, will be urged with that zeal and devotion which have won for the Democrat its present position. On all questions it will boldly espouse the right, and only seek its advancement through the public good.

ITS NEWS, LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, shall be all that readers could desire. The Political, Agricultural and Manufacturing interests of the country shall receive due attention.

THE COMMERCIAL CHARACTER of the Democrat is well established. This important interest is under the management of one thoroughly familiar with commercial affairs, and we pledge our honor that its figures shall always be the true index of trade here, while it furnishes daily more commercial news than any other paper in Missouri.

DAILY GAZETTE.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

McClellan was selected by Jeff. Davis himself, who was the secretary of war, to go to the Crimea to observe the great battles. It will be a little curious if the knowledge which he there gained should be the means of overthrowing the man who put him in position to receive the instruction.

WELL PUT.—While one of the chaplains of the army was repeating this line of the Lord's prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread"—a soldier added with a loud voice—"fresh."

The Austrians have an odd way of increasing the circulation of newspapers.—The police recently closed twenty-seven coffee houses in Venice because they refused to take the Verona Gazette.

Forged-iron plates have been used as targets for the 128-pound Armstrong gun and have proved superior to rolled iron in resisting shot. In a plate of six and a half inches in thickness only an indention of two inches was made at a distance of 400 yards. A plate of two inches thickness, placed at one hundred yards distance, resisted the force of a twelve pound shot, but a forty pound shot passed through it.

WAR SPIRIT IN HENRY COUNTY, ILL.—The board of supervisors in Henry county, in this state, have appropriated ten thousand dollars for the purpose of equipping volunteer companies raised in that county, and for the support of the families of soldiers. Three auditing commissioners have been appointed for disbursing the fund appropriated. It is proposed to uniform four companies in addition to the one which entered the service under the ten regiment bill.

WHAT MR. BUCHANAN'S NEIGHBORS SAY ABOUT HIM.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal who has been traveling through Pennsylvania, writes:

A neighbor of Mr. Buchanan was in the cars. He represents that the ex-president has long been dangerously sick from sheer exhaustion. He has little sympathy from his fellow townsmen, who upbraid him as being the author of all our national troubles. He is obliged to hear much that must wound him, and letters by the basketful are sent to him full of abuse and calumny, and so much so that while he was sick his friends would not allow him to see any letters, unless they knew where they were from. Miss Lane is represented as making herself agreeable to all who call, and keeping open house to all who come to Wheatland, with that same grace that made her so popular at the White House.

ANECDOTE OF FLOYD.—An anecdote is told us of Floyd, the great Virginia thief, which we have not seen in print. A few years since, a gentleman residing in Richmond, Virginia, gave a large dinner party to some distinguished men, among whom was Floyd, then a rising man, but whose personal appearance indicated neither mental nor physical superiority, he being a pursy, dark-complexioned man, with cripsy, wiry hair. Among the distinguished guests were two Indian chiefs, returning from a visit to their "Great Father," the President—magnificent specimens of their race.—Floyd, thinking to compliment them, and make them at their ease, told them, in a condescending manner, that he could boast of Indian blood in his veins, being a descendant of Pocahontas. One of the chiefs, drawing himself up majestically and disdainfully, and with a look of contempt upon his noble countenance, said in broken English, "Ugh! no! no! nigur! nigur!" The confusion and dismay of Floyd was complete, and it required all the boasted politeness of Richmond society to keep the other guests from exploding with laughter.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The 5th Connecticut regiment, Col. Orris S. Ferry, of Norwalk, which has just gone to the war, was known as "Colonel Colt's regiment" during its earlier formation, the colonel offering to arm and equip it himself. His patriotic offer was duly rewarded by complimentary mention in Gov. Buckingham's message, and by a legislative vote of thanks; and after he had got this he backed down, remanded his rifles, and threw the regiment on the state. So the people of Connecticut don't call it "Col. Colt's regiment" any longer.

A FUNNY FUGITIVE.—A runaway slave who made his way to Cairo, where he did good service in the entrenchments, was asked if he did not wish to go back and fight. He replied with a grimace, "Laws, no! Massee, dis nigger is not a fightin' nigger! he's a runnin' nigger,"

A LITTLE TOO SMART FOR AN UNPRINCIPLED HUSBAND.—A German of Chicago, named Henry Geyer, some years ago procured an Indiana divorce from his wife.—This he kept, to use as occasion offered, and continued to live with Mrs. Geyer as before. Recently he thought it would be a pleasant thing to bring the document in force, and so produced it, when the sharp woman's wit of the wife checkmated him entirely, by procuring his arrest for bastardy, as the father of her unborn child. So Mr. Geyer was taken to jail, and is there held awaiting a hearing. He professes himself willing to marry her over again, and sink the Indiana divorce.

Milton was once asked, "How is it that in some countries a king is allowed to take his place on the throne at fourteen years of age, but may not marry until he is eighteen?" "Because," said the poet, "it is easier to govern a kingdom than a woman."

CANNON FOR WASHINGTON.—A battery of rifled cannon, borrowed from the state of New York, will be sent to Washington this afternoon. These are ten-pounder Parrott guns. They are mounted and ready for use. Ten twenty-pounders, not mounted, are also to be sent, with a quantity of shots and shell.—N. Y. Post, 3d.

A WISCONSIN SOLDER.—In the battle of Bull's Run, Henry Benson of Kenosha county, Wis., fought gallantly with his regiment, the 2d Wisconsin. He was first shot through the hand, and exclaimed, "There goes one hand for the Union. Rally, boys, and down with the traitors!" Just then a ball struck him near the heart. He died, exclaiming, "Tell my father I die like a man fighting for the Union."

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Skirmish at Dug Spring.

We have been fearful that Gen. Lyon was in danger as his forces at Springfield, Missouri, have been reduced by the departure of three months' troops, to less than 8,000 men, while McCulloch commands a secession force of 20,000 in his immediate vicinity. But the skirmish which took place last Friday, wherein 270 federal troops charged through a body of rebels from 2,000 to 4,000 strong, killing 40 and wounding as many more, and putting the rebels to flight, reassures us. Although the odds are greatly against Lyon, we confidently expect to hear that he has beaten and dispersed the enemy before this time.

Union Victory in Kentucky.

At the election held in Kentucky on Monday last, for members of the legislature, the Union party succeeded by overwhelming majorities. The popular majority is fifty or sixty thousand, while there are probably not more than a dozen secessionists elected in the whole state. This result is glorious. Now let Kentucky repudiate the cowardly policy of neutrality, and take her stand with her noble son, Joseph Holt, in favor of making war upon the traitors who are endeavoring to destroy their country.

The Confiscation Bill.

This bill, introduced into the senate by Mr. Trumbull, became a law. It provides for confiscating all moveable effects taken from armed men resisting the government, or aiding and abetting its enemies. It was amended, on motion of Mr. Bingham, so that whenever, during the present insurrection, any person held to service or labor shall be employed in the military or naval service, the person to whom such service or labor is due shall forfeit his claim to the same. This may do some good, but it falls far short of the exigencies of the occasion. The slaves of all traitors should be declared free, whether employed in the military service of the rebels or not. There is, however, a higher law than all this—the law of military necessity, which no commander has a right to disobey when his army is in danger, and which may be called into action before the rebellion is crushed.

South-East Missouri.

The region of country, back of Bird's Point, and between New Madrid and Cape Girardeau, in Missouri, has suddenly become important by reason of the movements of the rebel General Pillow. It may be interesting to know the distances in that region, as we are likely to hear of a contest there before many days, between the contending forces.

The Mississippi river makes a considerable bend just above Bird's Point, towards the east and does not entirely regain its southern course until it reaches New Madrid, so that Bird's Point is an ox-bow of the river. The distance across the bow, or peninsula, is forty miles, while around by the river it is seventy mile. A railroad west, cuts off the upper part of this peninsula, runs back to Buflington, thirty-seven miles, and there terminates. A secession force of some 3,000 under Jeff Thompson, has taken possession of Sykestown, twenty-six miles from Bird's Point, and burnt the bridges on the railroad for eight or ten miles further towards Bird's Point. It will be noticed that the first thing a secession army does is to burn railroad bridges wherever it can get at them, and when the Union army comes along they rebuild; that is one of the differences between them.

Sykesville, which is tee nearest point the secessionists have approached Bird's Point in any force, is in the midst of a rich and well cultivated country, called West Prairie, and is occupied by wealthy planters, who are large slaveholders, and sympathise with the rebels. Jeff Thompson is therefore at home. He had advanced his forces, at the latest dates, ten miles north of the railroad, towards Cape Girardeau. This latter place is thirty miles above Bird's Point, on the Mississippi river, so that the enemy may either attack that place or Bird's Point as he chooses; but the probability is that he means to attack Cape Girardeau. The federal troops there amount to about five thousand, with a battery of six pieces of artillery.

Secretary of War.—It has been rumored that Hon. Joseph Holt, of Ky., was appointed secretary of war in place of Cameron. There is probably a mistake about this, as the statement has not been confirmed. Should there be a vacancy the people would be highly gratified at such an appointment.

☞ One of the gratifying circumstances connected with the election in Kentucky is the defeat of the degenerate son of Henry Clay, for the legislature, in Fayette county. He is a secessionist of the Breckinridge stamp, "sugar-coated" with the neutrality dodge.

☞ Nine new Missouri regiments will be added to the forces of Gen. Fremont.

A Rebel Account.

An Incident.—A correspondent of the Richmond Despatch, in giving a report of the last battle at Bull's Run, says:

"Shortly afterwards, Generals Beauregard, Johnston, and Bonham, accompanied by their aids, came galloping up the hill, and dismounted on the summit. Just at this time, by the aid of our glass, we could see their guns brought to bear on the hill where we stood, for in a few moments the smoke was discovered issuing from their batteries of rifled cannon, and before scarcely a word could be said, the peculiar whiz and hissing of the balls notified us that their aim had been well taken. Several balls fell in a field immediately behind us, and not a hundred yards from the spot where the generals stood. An officer of General Beauregard's staff requested us to leave the hill, and as we moved away, a shell burst not twenty feet off. The enemy no doubt discovered the horses of the generals, and thought it a good opportunity to display their markmanship, and credit is due to them for the accuracy of their aim."

This correspondent gives some of the particulars of the battle, which as they relate to the rebels themselves, are not probably overdrawn. Of the attack he says:

"They pressed our left flank for several hours with terrible effect, but our men flinched not til their number had been so diminished by the well aimed and steady volleys that they were compelled to give way for new regiments. The 7th and 8th Georgia regiments, commanded by the gallant and lamented Bartow, are said to have suffered heavily during the early part of the battle.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock large numbers of men were leaving the field, some of them wounded, others exhausted by the long struggle, who gave the most gloomy reports; but as the fire on both sides continued steadily, we felt sure that our brave southerners had not been conquered by the overwhelming hordes of the north. It is, however, due to truth to say that the result at this hour hung trembling in the balance. We had lost numbers of our most distinguished officers. Generals Bartow and Bee had been stricken down; Lieut. Col. Johnson [illegible] the Hampton Legion, had been killed [illegible] Hampton had been wounded.

Your correspondent heard Gen. Johnston exclaim to Gen. Cocke, just at the critical moment—"Oh, for four regiments!" His wish was answered, for in the distance our reinforcements appeared.

The tide of the battle turned in our favor by the arrival of Gen. Kirby Smith, from Winchester, with four thousand men of Gen. Johnston's division.

Gen. Smith heard, while on the Manassas railroad cars, the roar of battle. He stopped the train and hurried his troops across the fields to the point just where he was most needed. They were at first supposed to be the enemy, their arrival at that point of the field being entirely unexpected.

I should remark that it had been General Beauregard's purpose to make the attack, instead of waiting to receive it; but from some cause unknown to me, he preferred at last to let the enemy take the initiative; perhaps for the reason that Gen. Johnston's division had been detained on the railroad.

There are other statements in this letter in relation to the loss of the federal troops, the number engaged in the battle, the amount of material captured, &c., which we know are greatly exaggerated, but there is one fact plainly indicated, and indeed admitted, that before the heavy reinforcements of the enemy came up, the day was ours—a confirmation of what all our soldiers have said, and valuable because it is the admission of an opponent. The charge that our men assumed any disguises or fought under any than their own regimental flags, is wholly untrue.

From the Washington Republican.

The Wisconsin Second at Bull's Run.

Owing to a variety of causes, some of the regiments engaged in the battle of the 21st of July have failed to receive so favorable a notice as they deserve.

Among such might be mentioned the second regiment of Wisconsin. This regiment was in the advance of Col. Sherman's brigade during the engagement of the 18th and is highly complimented by that officer for their coolness in their first exposure to the enemy's batteries. In the battle of Sunday, the 21st, they were attached to the same brigade, with the thirteenth, sixty-ninth and seventy-ninth of New York.

Up to ten o'clock, A. M., this regiment served as supporters of Gen. Sherman's battery, when they had orders to cross the stream, leaving the battery behind them. Marching up the steep hill in the double quick, they were soon formed at the top in battle order. In a few moments the order came to charge upon the rebel's batteries, which were directly in front, across the valley. Here the "Badger boys" made a gallant charge down the declivity and up the opposite side, pouring volleys of musket shot into the enemy's ranks. In this engagement, where they were exposed an hour and a half to the double fires of the enemy's artillery and infantry, they lost some thirty killed and sixty wounded. The Fire Zouaves, who occupied a position during the engagement directly to the right, were often heard to say that the "Wisconsin boys fight bravely;" "they are the boys for us," &c. After the order had been given to retreat, and the regiment had recrossed Bull Run, the cavalry made an attempt to capture their regimental colors, but a sudden charge upon the cavalry emptied eleven or twelve of their saddles, and scattered the rest in confusion. At Centreville they halted and reformed, when one of the corporals in Capt. Allen's company rode up a fine horse that he had captured, and dismounted, telling the captain to take his horse, that he would rather go back and be shot than to make the retreat. And such was the feeling of a large portion of the regiment. They did not think themselves whipped, and nothing but positive orders from headquarters compelled them to leave Centerville. At Fairfax they stopped two hours, when the men were ordered to lie down and sleep till they should receive orders to march. Dr. Salter, correspondent of the New York Times, accompanied the regiment from Centerville to Fairfax, and took supper at the latter place with some of the officers.

The regiment was one of the last to leave the field, being preceded all the way by the sixty-ninth. They returned to camp in good order, occupying their old ground on Arlington Heights, without the loss of any provisions or blankets, and with but a very small loss of arms. The men are reported to be doing well, and more eager for a fray than before, and will go into the battle again with more coolness, but no more courage.

Gen. Pillow's Chain-Cable.—Previous to Gen. Pillow being superceded by Bishop Polk, he went to New Orleans and procured a huge chain-cable, costing him $25,000, and brought it to Memphis to blockade the river, by stretching it over and resting it upon buoys! The cable, carriage and work cost about $30,000. The first big tide that came, bringing down the usual amount of trees, logs and drift wood, swept his cable and its supporters, as any flat boat captain would have informed the authorities would certainly be the case.—Knoxville Whig.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The House adjourned sine die. The bills which passed both houses were approved by the President, who yielded a reluctant approval to that for the confiscation of property used for rebellious purposes.

Each house provided separately for increase of pay to volunteers and regular soldiers $4 per month, but finally they united on a bill which will increase the pay to only $2 per month.

Many members of both houses leave today for their homes.

Senator Latham will not return to California during the recess.

Washington, Aug. 6.

Special to Post.—The treasury department has received advices of the most encouraging character in relation to the national loan.

There is no doubt but that the loan will all be taken up.

The nominations for brigadier generals have all been confirmed by the senate.

It is understood that the rebeles continue to receive supplies of arms from Maryland.

A day or two since a wagon broke down near Millersville, Maryland, about midway between Annapolis and the Junction, and on examination was found to contain arms.

The inabitants permitted it to proceed as soon as it had been repaired.

Every road leading to southern Maryland is now closed.

Prince Napoleon accompanied by Secretary Seward and the French Minister, have gone to Mount Vernon on a government steamer.

Baltimore, July 6.

There is nothing of any moment from Old Point to-day.

The foundry of Poole & Hunt, of Baltimore county, just beyond the city limits, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $20,[illegible]; insured $13,000, partly in New York [illegible] Philadelphia.

New York, Aug. 6.

The brigs Naid, Machias and Ben Dunning, seized by the privateer Sumter near Cyanne, arrived at this port to-day. They were released by order of the Spanish government, and sailed under convoy of the U. S. steamer Crusader as far as Cape Antonio.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The navy department is in receipt of a letter from commodore Goldsboro of the U. S. steamer Union, dated Hampton Roads yesterday, in which he says the brig ashore near Cape Hatteras, about which there was so much speculation, proved to be the brig Martin of Boston, which had been in possession of the rebels.

Gen. Butler has returned to Fortress Monroe, and it is now stated that no immediate change will be made in the command of that post, except that it is expected that Gen. Butler will retire before another advance movement.

It appears by official advices from the Gulf squadron that on the 4th of July the U. S. steamer South Carolina captured six schooners, one on the 5th, and run on shore on the 6th one, on the 7th one, making in all ten said to have been captured or destroyed.

On the 5th of July, off Starks, Florida, the Mohawk captured the sloop George B. Sloat, attempting to run the blockade.

There were as passengers on board, the wife, three children and servants of Adjt. General Holland of Florida. Mrs. Holland claimed the secession flag as private property and secured it to her person so that the captain could not obtain it without using violence to a lady who was in a "delicate situation," so he desisted from taking the prize.

Mr. McClellan's appointment as brigadier general is very gratifying to the friends of the government.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Washington Aug. 6, 1861.

A pleasure trip is being made to Mount Vernon, to-day, in one of the Potomac steamers, for the benefit of Prince Napoleon, who is accompanied by Secretary Seward and a large party. A detachment of our troops are stationed nearest to the old Mansion, on the Virginia side, but there is a rebel force not far distant, and it is feared lest the party may be in danger from rebel pickets. It is not as safe now, as formerly, to visit the resting place of Washington.

Of the brigadier generals confirmed by the senate only Generals Anderson and Rosencranz are placed in the regular army list, the others being for the volunteer service. Those not hitherto named are Col. J. Wolcott Phelps of the Vermont 1st; A. S. Williams and Israel P. Richardson of Michigan, and Gov. Sprague and Col. Burnsides of Rhode Island. Gen. McClelland of Illinois has earned his honors this session.

A trustworthy fugitive from Memphis describes the whipping of several men and one woman—a school teacher—for a very little free speech.

There is wonder in diplomatic circles at the omission of all the Ambassabors, save Lord Lyons, from the dinner to Prince Napoleon. Special indignation is felt that the Italian Minister was excluded.

Prince Napoleon was gone all day to Mount Vernon and returned safely this evening. The party saw no rebel soldiers.—The prince declined the offer of an armed steamer with a flag of truce. The party returned much delighted with the trip.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 2.

A battle occurred to-day at Dug Spring, 19 miles south of this place, between the federal forces under General Lyon, and the rebel troops under Ben. McCulloch, in which 8 of the former were killed and 30 wounded, and 40 of the latter killed and 40 wounded. Gen. Lyon took 80 stand of arms and 15 horses and wagons. Two hundred and seventy U. S. cavalry made a charge upon a body of rebel infantry, said to have been 4,000, cut their way through them, and returned with a loss of five men. The charge was most gallant and terrible, several of the rebels being found with the heads cloven entirely through. The enemy retired during the night, and Gen. Lyon took possession of the field. Another battle was momentarily expected, the enemy being in large force west of Springfield. Particulars as soon as possible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 4.

Colonel Black's regiment, nine hundred strong, left last evening for Harrisburg, where they will be armed. There is a great military enthusiasm here. Twelve hundred troops from the west passed through this morning. Three hundred regulars from Dacotah left this afternoon for Washington in charge of Lieut. Day. The paymaster arrived to-day. The Pennsylvania 12th and 13th will be paid Monday and mustered out Tuesday. Enlisting going on rapidly.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Cairo, Aug. 6—10 P. M.

To-day has been characterized by two movements—a variation on the quiet programme for some weeks past—and both of these were by the Chicago troops. These movements were sending Col. McArthur, with a battallion of the 12th regiment to reinforce Col. Marsh at Cape Girardeau, and the removal of Capt. Smith's company A, Chicago Light Artilery from Camp Smith to a new location within the levee, near the Mississippi shore and adjacent to Col. McArthur's camp.

Advices from Col. Marsh last evening represent his position at Cape Girardeau immediately threatened by the near approach of a strong force of rebels under the command of the lesser-Jeff. of Missouri, and asking for reinforcements. Col. McArthur received orders to hold ready four companies of his 12th regiment, and to those were added four pieces of artillery. These embarked on the steamers Iatan and "B," at 7 a. m. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed among the new men, and very many of the discharged three months men, though paid off a day or two since, begged and obtained permission to be of the party. The force was thus increased, as also by the addition of the two more companies, to about 800 men. Forty-eight rounds of cartridges was served out to the men, and the steamers left amid great enthusiasm on board and on the levee. There was no mistaking the ardor of the boys to meet the enemy. There was not a particle of "flunk" visible among either officers or men; although confronted by the fact that the rebels were in superior force, even after this reinforcement should arrive.

The city has rang with rumors all day, giving all possible shades of the reported result at Cape Girardeau. But a gun steamer arriving here in the middle of the afternoon, reported Col. McArthur's arrival at the Cape and all quiet. A strong reinforcement of men, and a heavy field battery, was also sent down from the St. Louis arsenal, by Gen. Fremont, and unless they should be needed, Col. McArthur's detachment will return and resume their camp here.

Capt. Lattimer, of the seceded steamer "Cheney." has come back to-day, fully persuaded that he and the Illinois Central railroad, have that amount of investment in the Conthieverey. The Cheney was seized last week and her return promised in four days. She is now at Memphis.

The "reliable gentleman" still continues to arrive here from the south several times a day, with startling reports from below; but of one thing be assured—that what the officers here know they learn from other and better sources, and do not notice their information with the public.

Col. Cook's 7th Illinois regiment broke up their camp at Mound City this morning and have gone into camp here.

The steamer Warsaw has been moved off the Ohio levee as a floating hospital, attached to Dr. Sim's brigade hospital, and under charge of Assistant Surgeon Burke. A new brick building, well located and airy, will soon be occupied by Dr. Sim.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

New York, Aug. 7.

The Tribune's dispatches state that the nominations of the New York delegation for brigadiers were not acted upon by the President last night.

Three companies of the 2d infantry, 237 men, arrived from Fort Abercrombie, Dacotah, via St. Paul, to which place they marched 300 miles. Many of them have been in service fifteen or twenty years.

A second detachment of twelve rifled cannon have arrived. There is much more artillery here now than we had before the forward movement was made.

Gov. Randall of Wisconsin has been confirmed as minister to Rome, and John P. Lovejoy of Iowa, brother of Owen Lovejoy, as consul to Callao.

Sen. Harlan has a dispatch to-night from Iowa, stating that rebels, in strong force, have taken a small town near Keokuk.

Brig. Gen. Rufus King of Wisconsin left Washington to-day to take command of the Wisconsin troops now in the department of Gen. Dix.

The report of Gen. McDowell, giving an official narrative of the campaign of the Potomac, has been completed, but will not be published until the return of Secretary Cameron.

Washington, Aug. 6.

World's Despatch.—An extensive alarm was caused across the Potomac during last night.

A countryman came in and reported that the enemy was approaching in large numbers.

Immediate preparations were made to give them a warm reception. Troops were active and determined and the time in which they got in line ready for action was very brief. The alarm proved to be false.

A prominent engineer connected with the New York Fire department has arrived here, and is endeavoring to make arrangements for the Fire Zouaves to remain in service for the time which they enlisted.

A man named Miner was arrested opposite Long Bridge to-day, with Beauregard's pass in his pocket.

Since the strict rules about the publication of army matters, the city it is said, has swarmed with spies.

To-night, an officer who is known to be in the confederate army was arrested at the National hotel.

Herald's Despatch.—News of the Union victory in Kentucky has arrived. There was the wildest enthusiasm here when it was announced in the house of representatives before its adjournment, by the venerable ex-Governor, Wickliffe, with the declaration that Kentucky was the first to be admitted into the Union after the adoption of the constitution, and would be the last to desert it.

Thunders of applause from the floor and galleries which shook even the solid walls. It was an outburst of patriotic feelings.

This great victory will be followed immediately by a special one not less magnificent.

There is at this moment 10,000 organized men in Kentucky, only waiting the accomplishment of this victory at the ballot-box to take the field and drive the rebel forces out of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Clay Legion is now ready to be mustered into service, and men are burning with a desire to aid their union neighbors in Tennessee, to free themselves from the despotism of Davis and mobocracy.

A gentleman who has recently been compelled to leave Vienna, states that the rebels have 10,000 men at that point and Falls Church, and that they are meditating an attack on Alexandria. He says he has mingled freely among their troops and confirms the statements that they had over 100,000 men at Bull Run and Manassas on the 21st. The estimate made of their killed in that engagement was 2,700, exclusive of wounded. They admitted that the slaughter on their side was double what it was on ours. It is reported that the wives of rebel soldiers state that their husbands are mining the road between Falls Church and Fairfax court house; and that they intend to connect the mines with small vials, filled with explosive materials; and that their main batteries in the direction of Manassas Junction have not yet been discovered by our troops.

From another source it is learned that ever since the occupation of Harper's Ferry by the rebels, a force of from 10,000 to 12,000 men have been engaged at Richmond in the manufacture of rifled cannon and ordnance, of various calibre. They are said to have turned out an immense number of cannon.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.

A report reached here that the enemy were advancing in 3 columns, with a force numbering 20,000 men. Gen. Lyon immediately set out to meet them with 2d and 3d Missouri regiments from here, and 4th and 2d Kansas, and 1st Iowa regiments, with 2 or 3 companies of regular cavalry from Camp McClellan, about 2 miles west of here. Lyon encamped that evening on Tyrrell Creek, and on Friday advanced to Dug Spring, about 19 miles southwest of Springfield, when he obtained intelligence of the enemy. The fight took place between 4 and 6 o'clock that P. M. A party of 270 of Lyon's cavalry met a party of the enemy, who as previously reported, were crossing a ridge of high land partially enclosed on the east by a valley, and when descending this came upon a large force of the enemy's infantry, variously estimated at from 2000 to 4000, and being unable to retreat, they charged and cut their way through with the loss of 5. The Lieut. commanding the cavalry was killed after killing 8 of the rebels. Meantime the enemy appeared in large numbers moving along the valley, but were put to flight by our artillery. Our infantry was not engaged. The rebels retreated southward to a place called McCulloch's store, on the Fayetteville road. The number of rebels found dead on field amounted to 40, and some 44 wounded were picked up. Gen. Lyon is said to be strongly entrenched in close proximity to the enemy. Another battle was expected.

It is said there is a body of some 5000 men 30 miles west of us, who are coming in to attack the town. In Gen. Lyon's absence, we have here 2 companies of the 3d Reg. Missouri volunteers, and about 700 or 800 home guards from the surrounding country, and 2 pieces of artillery. While I write 2 companies of home guards have just gone out to reconnoitre for the enemy from the west. We are waiting for them with confident hearts and strong arms, determined that they shall not take the town without a struggle. 4 or 5 batteries of rifled cannon of heavy calibre arrived by Ohio & Mississippi railroad to day. Preparations being made to take them on board the government steamers.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.

The United States gun boat Flag arrived at Fort Mifflin this morning with thirty-six rebel prisoners, taken from a rebel war vessel, formerly the revenue cutter Aiken, seized at Charleston last winter. The Aiken fired at the St. Lawrence off Charleston, probably mistaking her for a merchant vessel, when the St. Lawrence returned a broadside, sinking the rebel. Five of her crew were lost, and the rest sedured and placed on board the Flag.

The navy department will at once issue proposals for the construction of the 10 side-wheel steamers and one or more iron clad vessels, recently authorized by congress.

Columbus, Aug. 6.

Hon. John C. Crittenden arrived this P. M., and made a highly patriotic speech this evening in Capitol Square, to a large and enthusiastic audience. He leaves for Cincinnati at 9 P. M. to-night.

Hundreds of people are coming to this state almost daily who have been driven out of Texas and Arkansas by the rebels.—They represent that if the federal government would send a force of arms to arm the people, more than one-half in both states would fight for the Union.—Dispatch.

It would seem as if the first duty of the government should be to furnish arms for the Union men in those border states, when they are in sufficient strength to protect themselves, for it is to them alone in the end that we must look, to uphold and keep in the Union, the states in which they reside. Foreign bayonets cannot do it. Therefore the imperative necessity of arming at once all Union men in the slave states who will aid in defending our common country.—Chicago Journal.

The method adopted in Missouri of appointing a committee of public safety in each county, who are made responsible for the defence of their locality, will be the most effective way. With such an organization, and plenty of arms and ammunition, the Union men in the slave states, can help themselves, which is far better than depending upon aid from the federal army.

Carl Schurz in Spain.—It was confidently asserted in many quarters, that Carl Schurz would not be received by the Spanish power as a representative from this country. We had seen no notice that he had been received, but the following from the Paris correspondent of the New York Times seems to be conclusive on the point: "The Moniteur publishes this morning the speeches made by Carl Schurz and the Queen of Spain, on the occasion of the reception by her Majesty of the American Minister. These speeches contain nothing remarkable beyond an apparent sincerity in the warm expressions of friendship of the two powers to each other. The length of the Queen's speech, however, as well as of that she delivered on the occasion of Mr. Preston's retirement, is quite unusual among European monarchs.

Gen. Rosecrans.—This gallant and accomplished officer is thus described by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Times:

Gen. Rosecrans is at Clarksburgh, and I must say that I never felt so much disappointed in any man in my life. There he stood with a miserable old blouse, of the very commonest material on, without a stitch indicative of his rank. The pants, sure enough, were of the very coarsest texture, and must have witnessed the affair at Rich Mountain. The shoes were common brogans, such as the soldiers wear, and must be at least three sizes too large for him. The cap was of a very coarse, miserable material. His flannel shirt was clean, but as coarse as a "high private's." In all, I took Gen. Rosecrans to be a "high private" who was very popular with the officers and men. He had a shake hands for everybody, and I noticed particularly that he had more to say to the men than the officers. Whenever his back was turned and out of hearing, the fellows would walk and say:

"That's the chap for you," "Won't he fight, eh?" "He's the bully boy," "Another round," "Just look at his eye, and you will be sure to see fight there."

Havelocks.—There is no necessity for making havelocks with ear-flaps. The back of the neck, extending down the spine, should be covered, but that is all. The immense hoods for which patterns have been numerously furnished, are useless and a failure. Cut them away at the sides; the fall protecting the neck is all that is wanted. So say all the authorities.

☞ The expenses of the government are now a million and a quarter per day.

The Scientific American says, wherever there is original genius, there will not be wanted occasions for its display, and then cites the case of Major Anderson, in Fort Sumter. The old traitorous Secretary of War had left a large number of shells, but without fuses.

Numbers of these shells intended for cannon firing were packed with powder, and common fuses containing percussion powder were placed in the holes. The wire of each fuse was then attached to a strong cord, and the shells were suspended carefully over the walls where they hung perfectly safe for action. By drawing the cord quickly—giving it a snap—the percussion powder of friction fuse became ignited, and the shell exploded. Had a storming party attacked the fort at night, these shells wo'd have scattered death and destruction among their ranks.

Failure of Claflin, Mellen & Co.—We announced on Saturday the failure of this celebrated house—the largest house in the United States. We understand some 60 days ago that the house was compelled to ask of the banks a loan of $3,000,000 to save them then. This was done and security taken to save the banks. We hear that their liabilities are $8,000,000. Their assets of course must also be enormous, but in the present state of the country largely unavailable.

The Daily Gazette.

City of Janesville.

Wednesday Evening, August 7, 1861.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Skirmish at Dug Spring.

We have been fearful that Gen. Lyon was in danger as his forces at Springfield, Missouri, have been reduced by the departure of three months' troops, to less than 8,000 men, while McCulloch commands a secession force of 20,000 in his immediate vicinity. But the skirmish which took place last Friday, wherein 270 federal troops charged through a body of rebels from 2,000 to 4,000 strong, killing 40 and wounding as many more, and putting the rebels to flight, reassures us. Although the odds are greatly against Lyon, we confidently expect to hear that he has beaten and dispersed the enemy before this time.

Union Victory in Kentucky.

At the election held in Kentucky on Monday last, for members of the legislature, the Union party succeeded by overwhelming majorities. The popular majority is fifty or sixty thousand, while there are probably not more than a dozen secessionists elected in the whole state. This result is glorious. Now let Kentucky repudiate the cowardly policy of neutrality, and take her stand with her noble son, Joseph Holt, in favor of making war upon the traitors who are endeavoring to destroy their country.

The Confiscation Bill.

This bill, introduced into the senate by Mr. Trumbull, became a law. It provides for confiscating all moveable effects taken from armed men resisting the government, or aiding and abetting its enemies. It was amended, on motion of Mr. Bingham, so that whenever, during the present insurrection, any person held to service or labor shall be employed in the military or naval service, the person to whom such service or labor is due shall forfeit his claim to the same. This may do some good, but it falls far short of the exigencies of the occasion. The slaves of all traitors should be declared free, whether employed in the military service of the rebels or not. There is, however, a higher law than all this—the law of military necessity, which no commander has a right to disobey when his army is in danger, and which may be called into action before the rebellion is crushed.

South-East Missouri.

The region of country, back of Bird's Point, and between New Madrid and Cape Girardeau, in Missouri, has suddenly become important by reason of the movements of the rebel General Pillow. It may be interesting to know the distances in that region, as we are likely to hear of a contest there before many days, between the contending forces.

The Mississippi river makes a considerable bend just above Bird's Point, towards the east and does not entirely regain its southern course until it reaches New Madrid, so that Bird's Point is an ox-bow of the river. The distance across the bow, or peninsula, is forty miles, while around by the river it is seventy mile. A railroad west, cuts off the upper part of this peninsula, runs back to Buffington, thirty-seven miles, and there terminates. A secession force of some 3,000 under Jeff Thompson, has taken possession of Sykestown, twenty-six miles from Bird's Point, and burnt the bridges on the railroad for eight or ten miles farther towards Bird's Point. It will be noticed that the first thing a secession army does is to burn railroad bridges wherever it can get at them, and when the Union army comes along they rebuild; that is one of the differences between them.

Sykesville, which is tee nearest point the secessionists have approached Bird's Point in any force, is in the midst of a rich and well cultivated country, called West Prairie, and is occupied by wealthy planters, who are large slaveholders, and sympathise with the rebels. Jeff Thompson is therefore at home. He had advanced his forces, at the latest dates, ten miles north of the railroad, towards Cape Girardeau. This latter place is thirty miles above Bird's Point, on the Mississippi river, so that the enemy may either attack that place or Bird's Point as he chooses; but the probability is that he means to attack Cape Girardeau. The federal troops there amount to about five thousand, with a battery of six pieces of artillery.

Secretary of War.—It has been rumored that Hon. Joseph Holt, of Ky., was appointed secretary of war in place of Cameron. There is probably a mistake about this, as the statement has not been confirmed. Should there be a vacancy the people would be highly gratified at such an appointment.

☞ One of the gratifying circumstances connected with the election in Kentucky is the defeat of the degenerate son of Henry Clay, for the legislature, in Fayette county. He is a secessionist of the Breckinridge stamp, "sugar-coated" with the neutrality dodge.

☞ Nine new Missouri regiments will be added to the forces of Gen. Fremont.

A Rebel Account.

An Incident.—A correspondent of the Richmond Despatch, in giving a report of the last battle at Bull's Run, says:

"Shortly afterwards, Generals Beauregard, Johnston, and Bonham, accompanied by their aids, came galloping up the hill, and dismounted on the summit. Just at this time, by the aid of our glass, we could see their guns brought to bear on the hill where we stood, for in a few moments the smoke was discovered issuing from their batteries of rifled cannon, and before scarcely a word could be said, the peculiar whiz and hissing of the balls notified us that their aim had been well taken. Several balls fell in a field immediately behind us, and not a hundred yards from the spot where the generals stood. An officer of General Beauregard's staff requested us to leave the hill, and as we moved away, a shell burst not twenty feet off. The enemy no doubt discovered the horses of the generals, and thought it a good opportunity to display their markmanship, and credit is due to them for the accuracy of their aim."

This correspondent gives some of the particulars of the battle, which as they relate to the rebels themselves, are not probably overdrawn. Of the attack he says:

"They pressed our left flank for several hours with terrible effect, but our men flinched not til their number had been so diminished by the well aimed and steady volleys that they were compelled to give way for new regiments. The 7th and 8th Georgia regiments, commanded by the gallant and lamented Bartow, are said to have suffered heavily during the early part of the battle.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock large numbers of men were leaving the field, some of them wounded, others exhausted by the long struggle, who gave the most gloomy reports; but as the fire on both sides continued steadily, we felt sure that our brave southerners had not been conquered by the overwhelming hordes of the north. It is, however, due to truth to say that the result at this hour hung trembling in the balance. We had lost numbers of our most distinguished officers. Generals Bartow and Bee had been stricken down; Lieut. Col. Johnson [illegible] the Hampton Legion, had been kil[illegible] Hampton had been wounded.

Your correspondent heard Gen. Johnston exclaim to Gen. Cocke, just at the critical moment—"Oh, for four regiments!" His wish was answered, for in the distance our reinforcements appeared.

The tide of the battle turned in our favor by the arrival of Gen. Kirby Smith, from Winchester, with four thousand men of Gen. Johnston's division.

Gen. Smith heard, while on the Manassas railroad cars, the roar of battle. He stopped the train and hurried his troops across the fields to the point just where he was most needed. They were at first supposed to be the enemy, their arrival at that point of the field being entirely unexpected.

I should remark that it had been General Beauregard's purpose to make the attack, instead of waiting to receive it; but from some cause unknown to me, he preferred at last to let the enemy take the initiative; perhaps for the reason that Gen. Johnston's division had been detained on the railroad.

There are other statements in this letter in relation to the loss of the federal troops, the number engaged in the battle, the amount of material captured, &c., which we know are greatly exaggerated, but there is one fact plainly indicated, and indeed admitted, that before the heavy reinforcements of the enemy came up, the day was ours—a confirmation of what all our soldiers have said, and valuable because it is the admission of an opponent. The charge that our men assumed any disguises or fought under any than their own regimental flags, is wholly untrue.

From the Washington Republican.

The Wisconsin Second at Bull's Run.

Owing to a variety of causes, some of the regiments engaged in the battle of the 21st of July have failed to receive so favorable a notice as they deserve.

Among such might be mentioned the second regiment of Wisconsin. This regiment was in the advance of Col. Sherman's brigade during the engagement of the 18th and is highly complimented by that officer for their coolness in their first exposure to the enemy's batteries. In the battle of Sunday, the 21st, they were attached to the same brigade, with the thirteenth, sixty-ninth and seventy-ninth of New York.

Up to ten o'clock, A. M., this regiment served as supporters of Gen. Sherman's battery, when they had orders to cross the stream, leaving the battery behind them. Marching up the steep hill in the double quick, they were soon formed at the top in battle order. In a few moments the order came to charge upon the rebel's batteries, which were directly in front, across the valley. Here the "Badger boys" made a gallant charge down the declivity and up the opposite side, pouring volleys of musket shot into the enemy's ranks. In this engagement, where they were exposed an hour and a half to the double fires of the enemy's artillery and infantry, they lost some thirty killed and sixty wounded. The Fire Zouaves, who occupied a position during the engagement directly to the right, were often heard to say that the "Wisconsin boys fight bravely;" "they are the boys for us," &c. After the order had been given to retreat, and the regiment had recrossed Bull Run, the cavalry made an attempt to capture their regimental colors, but a sudden charge upon the cavalry emptied eleven or twelve of their saddles, and scattered the rest in confusion. At Centreville they halted and reformed, when one of the corporals in Capt. Allen's company rode up a fine horse that he had captured, and dismounted, telling the captain to take his horse, that he would rather go back and be shot than to make the retreat. And such was the feeling of a large portion of the regiment. They did not think themselves whipped, and nothing but positive orders from headquarters compelled them to leave Centerville. At Fairfax they stopped two hours, when the men were ordered to lie down and sleep till they should receive orders to march. Dr. Salter, correspondent of the New York Times, accompanied the regiment from Centerville to Fairfax, and took supper at the latter place with some of the officers.

The regiment was one of the last to leave the field, being preceded all the way by the sixty-ninth. They returned to camp in good order, occupying their old ground on Arlington Heights, without the loss of any provisions or blankets, and with but a very small loss of arms. The men are reported to be doing well, and more eager for a fray than before, and will go into the battle again with more coolness, but no more courage.

Gen. Pillow's Chain-Cable.—Previous to Gen. Pillow being superceded by Bishop Polk, he went to New Orleans and procured a huge chain-cable, costing him $25,000, and brought it to Memphis to blockade the river, by stretching it over and resting it upon buoys! The cable, carriage and work cost about $30,000. The first big tide that came, bringing down the usual amount of trees, logs and drift wood, swept his cable and its supporters, as any flat boat captain would have informed the authorities would certainly be the case.—Knoxville Whig.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The House adjourned sine die. The bills which passed both houses were approved by the President, who yielded a reluctant approval to that for the confiscation of property used for rebellious purposes.

Each house provided separately for increase of pay to volunteers and regular soldiers $4 per month, but finally they united on a bill which will increase the pay to only $2 per month.

Many members of both houses leave today for their homes.

Senator Latham will not return to California during the recess.

Washington, Aug. 6.

Special to Post.—The treasury department has received advices of the most encouraging character in relation to the national loan.

There is no doubt but that the loan will all be taken up.

The nominations for brigadier generals have all been confirmed by the senate.

It is understood that the rebeles continue to receive supplies of arms from Maryland.

A day or two since a wagon broke down near Millersville, Maryland, about midway between Annapolis and the Junction, and on examination was found to contain arms.

The inabitants permitted it to proceed as soon as it had been repaired.

Every road leading to southern Maryland is now closed.

Prince Napoleon accompanied by Secretary Seward and the French Minister, have gone to Mount Vernon on a government steamer.

Baltimore, July 6.

There is nothing of any moment from Old Point to-day.

The foundry of Poole & Hunt, of Baltimore county, just beyond the city limits, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $20,000; insured $13,000, partly in New York and Philadelphia.

New York, Aug. 6.

The brigs Naid, Machias and Ben Dunning, seized by the privateer Sumter near Cyanne, arrived at this port to-day. They were released by order of the Spanish government, and sailed under convoy of the U. S. steamer Crusader as far as Cape Antonio.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The navy department is in receipt of a letter from commodore Goldsboro of the U. S. steamer Union, dated Hampton Roads yesterday, in which he says the brig ashore near Cape Hatteras, about which there was so much speculation, proved to be the brig Martin of Boston, which had been in possession of the rebels.

Gen. Butler has returned to Fortress Monroe, and it is now stated that no immediate change will be made in the command of that post, except that it is expected that Gen. Butler will retire before another advance movement.

It appears by official advices from the Gulf squadron that on the 4th of July the U. S. steamer South Carolina captured six schooners, one on the 5th, and run on shore on the 6th one, on the 7th one, making in all ten said to have been captured or destroyed.

On the 5th of July, off Starks, Florida, the Mohawk captured the sloop George B. Sloat, attempting to run the blockade.

There were as passengers on board, the wife, three children and servants of Adjt. General Holland of Florida. Mrs. Holland claimed the secession flag as private property and secured it to her person so that the captain could not obtain it without using violence to a lady who was in a "delicate situation," so he desisted from taking the prize.

Mr. McClellan's appointment as brigadier general is very gratifying to the friends of the government.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Washington Aug. 6, 1861.

A pleasure trip is being made to Mount Vernon, to-day, in one of the Potomac steamers, for the benefit of Prince Napolson, who is accompanied by Secretary Seward and a large party. A detachment of our troops are stationed nearest to the old Mansion, on the Virginia side, but there is a rebel force not far distant, and it is feared lest the party may be in danger from rebel pickets. It is not as safe now, as formerly, to visit the resting place of Washington.

Of the brigadier generals confirmed by the senate only Generals Anderson and Rosencranz are placed in the regular army list, the others being for the volunteer service. Those not hitherto named are Col. J. Wolcott Phelps of the Vermont 1st; A. S. Williams and Israel P. Richardson of Michigan, and Gov. Sprague and Col. Burnsides of Rhode Island. Gen. McClelland of Illinois has earned his honors this session.

A trustworthy fugitive from Memphis describes the whipping of several men and one woman—a school teacher—for a very little free speech.

There is wonder in diplomatic circles at the omission of all the Ambassabors, save Lord Lyons, from the dinner to Prince Napoleon. Special indignation is felt that the Italian Minister was excluded.

Prince Napoleon was gone all day to Mount Vernon and returned safely this evening. The party saw no rebel soldiers.—The prince declined the offer of an armed steamer with a flag of truce. The party returned much delighted with the trip.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 2.

A battle occurred to-day at Dug Spring, 19 miles south of this place, between the federal forces under General Lyon, and the rebel troops under Ben. McCulloch, in which 8 of the former were killed and 30 wounded, and 40 of the latter killed and 40 wounded. Gen. Lyon took 80 stand of arms and 15 horses and wagons. Two hundred and seventy U. S. cavalry made a charge upon a body of rebel infantry, said to have been 4,000, cut their way through them, and returned with a loss of five men. The charge was most gallant and terrible, several of the rebels being found with the heads cloven entirely through. The enemy retired during the night, and Gen. Lyon took possession of the field. Another battle was momentarily expected, the enemy being in large force west of Springfield. Particulars as soon as possible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 4.

Colonel Black's regiment, nine hundred strong, left last evening for Harrisburg, where they will be armed. There is a great military enthusiasm here. Twelve hundred troops from the west passed through this morning. Three hundred regulars from Dacotah left this afternoon for Washington in charge of Lieut. Day. The paymaster arrived to-day. The Pennsylvania 12th and 13th will be paid Monday and mustered out Tuesday. Enlisting going on rapidly.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Cairo, Aug. 6—10 p. m.

To-day has been characterized by two movements—a variation on the quiet programme for some weeks past—and both of these were by the Chicago troops. These movements were sending Col. McArthur, with a battallion of the 12th regiment to reinforce Col. Marsh at Cape Girardeau, and the removal of Capt. Smith's company A, Chicago Light Artilery from Camp Smith to a new location within the levee, near the Mississippi shore and adjacent to Col. McArthur's camp.

Advices from Col. Marsh last evening represent his position at Cape Girardeau immediately threatened by the near approach of a strong force of rebels under the command of the lesser-Jeff. of Missouri, and asking for reinforcements. Col. McArthur received orders to hold ready four companies of his 12th regiment, and to those were added four pieces of artillery. These embarked on the steamers Iatan and "B," at 7 a. m. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed among the new men, and very many of the discharged three months men, though paid off a day or two since, begged and obtained permission to be of the party. The force was thus increased, as also by the addition of the two more companies, to about 800 men. Forty-eight rounds of cartridges was served out to the men, and the steamers left amid great enthusiasm on board and on the levee. There was no mistaking the ardor of the boys to meet the enemy. There was not a particle of "flunk" visible among either officers or men; although confronted by the fact that the rebels were in superior force, even after this reinforcement should arrive.

The city has rang with rumors all day, giving all possible shades of the reported result at Cape Girardeau. But a gun steamer arriving here in the middle of the afternoon, reported Col. McArthur's arrival at the Cape and all quiet. A strong reinforcement of men, and a heavy field battery, was also sent down from the St. Louis arsenal, by Gen. Fremont, and unless they should be needed, Col. McArthur's detachment will return and resume their camp here.

Capt. Lattimer, of the seceded steamer "Cheney." has come back to-day, fully persuaded that he and the Illinois Central railroad, have that amount of investment in the Conthievercy. The Cheney was seized last week and her return promised in four days. She is now at Memphis.

The "reliable gentleman" still continues to arrive here from the south several times a day, with startling reports from below; but of one thing be assured—that what the officers here know they learn from other and better sources, and do not notice their information with the public.

Col. Cook's 7th Illinois regiment broke up their camp at Mound City this morning and have gone into camp here.

The steamer Warsaw has been moved off the Ohio levee as a floating hospital, attached to Dr. Sim's brigade hospital, and under charge of Assistant Surgeon Burke. A new brick building, well located and airy, will soon be occupied by Dr. Sim.

To-Day's Report.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

New York, Aug. 7.

The Tribune's dispatches state that the nominations of the New York delegation for brigadiers were not acted upon by the President last night.

Three companies of the 2d infantry, 237 men, arrived from Fort Abercrombie, Dacotah, via St. Paul, to which place they marched 300 miles. Many of them have been in service fifteen or twenty years.

A second detachment of twelve rifled cannon have arrived. There is much more artillery here now than we had before the forward movement was made.

Gov. Randall of Wisconsin has been confirmed as minister to Rome, and John P. Lovejoy of Iowa, brother of Owen Lovejoy, as consul to Callao.

Sen. Harlan has a dispatch to-night from Iowa, stating that rebels, in strong force, have taken a small town near Keokuk.

Brig. Gen. Rufus King of Wisconsin left Washington to-day to take command of the Wisconsin troops now in the department of Gen. Dix.

The report of Gen. McDowell, giving an official narrative of the campaign of the Potomac, has been completed, but will not be published until the return of Secretary Cameron.

Washington, Aug. 6.

World's Despatch.—An extensive alarm was caused across the Potomac during last night.

A countryman came in and reported that the enemy was approaching in large numbers.

Immediate preparations were made to give them a warm reception. Troops were active and determined and the time in which they got in line ready for action was very brief. The alarm proved to be false.

A prominent engineer connected with the New York Fire department has arrived here, and is endeavoring to make arrangements for the Fire Zouaves to remain in service for the time which they enlisted.

A man named Miner was arrested opposite Long Bridge to-day, with Beauregard's pass in his pocket.

Since the strict rules about the publication of army matters, the city it is said, has swarmed with spies.

To-night, an officer who is known to be in the confederate army was arrested at the National hotel.

Herald's Despatch.—News of the Union victory in Kentucky has arrived. There was the wildest enthusiasm here when it was announced in the house of representatives before its adjournment, by the venerable ex-Governor, Wickliffe, with the declaration that Kentucky was the first to be admitted into the Union after the adoption of the constitution, and would be the last to desert it.

Thunders of applause from the floor and galleries which shook even the solid walls. It was an outburst of patriotic feelings.

This great victory will be followed immediately by a special one not less magnificent.

There is at this moment 10,000 organized men in Kentucky, only waiting the accomplishment of this victory at the ballot-box to take the field and drive the rebel forces out of Keutucky and Tennessee.

The Clay Legion is now ready to be mustered into service, and men are burning with a desire to aid their union neighbors in Tennessee, to free themselves from the despotism of Davis and mobocracy.

A gentleman who has recently been compelled to leave Vienna, states that the rebels have 10,000 men at that point and Falls Church, and that they are meditating an attack on Alexandria. He says he has mingled freely among their troops and confirms the statements that they had over 100,000 men at Bull Run and Manassas on the 21st. The estimate made of their killed in that engagement was 2,700, exclusive of wounded. They admitted that the slaughter on their side was double what it was on ours. It is reported that the wives of rebel soldiers state that their husbands are mining the road between Falls Church and Fairfax court house; and that they intend to connect the mines with small vials, filled with explosive materials; and that their main batteries in the direction of Manassass Junction have not yet been discovered by our troops.

From another source it is learned that ever since the occupation of Harper's Ferry by the rebels, a force of from 10,000 to 12,000 men have been engaged at Richmond in the manufacture of rifled cannon and ordnance, of various calibre. They are said to have turned out an immense number of cannon.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.

A report reached here that the enemy were advancing in 3 columns, with a force numbering 20,000 men. Gen. Lyon immediately set out to meet them with 2d and 3d Missouri regiments from here, and 4th and 2d Kansas, and 1st Iowa regiments, with 2 or 3 companies of regular cavalry from Camp McClellan, about 2 miles west of here. Lyon encamped that evening on Tyrrell Creek, and on Friday advanced to Dug Spring, about 19 miles southwest of Springfield, when he obtained intelligence of the enemy. The fight took place between 4 and 6 o'clock that P. M. A party of 270 of Lyon's cavalry met a party of the enemy, who as previously reported, were crossing a ridge of high land partially enclosed on the east by a valley, and when descending this came upon a large force of the enemy's infantry, variously estimated at from 2000 to 4000, and being unable to retreat, they charged and cut their way through with the loss of 5. The Lieut. commanding the cavalry was killed after killing 8 of the rebels. Meantime the enemy appeared in large numbers moving along the valley, but were put to flight by our artillery. Our infantry was not engaged. The rebels retreated southward to a place called McCulloch's store, on the Fayetteville road. The number of rebels found dead on field amounted to 40, and some 44 wounded were picked up. Gen. Lyon is said to be strongly entrenched in close proximity to the enemy. Another battle was expected.

It is said there is a body of some 5000 men 30 miles west of us, who are coming in to attack the town. In Gen. Lyon's absence, we have here 2 companies of the 3d Reg. Missouri volunteers, and about 700 or 800 home guards from the surrounding country, and 2 pieces of artillery. While I write 2 companies of home guards have just gone out to reconnoitre for the enemy from the west. We are waiting for them with confident hearts and strong arms, determined that they shall not take the town without a struggle. 4 or 5 batteries of rifled cannon of heavy calibre arrived by Ohio & Mississippi railroad to-day. Preparations being made to take them on board the government steamers.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.

The United States gun boat Flag arrived at Fort Mifflin this morning with thirty-six rebel prisoners, taken from a rebel war vessel, formerly the revenue cutter Aiken, seized at Charleston last winter. The Aiken fired at the St. Lawrence off Charleston, probably mistaking her for a merchant vessel, when the St. Lawrence returned a broadside, sinking the rebel. Five of her crew were lost, and the rest sedured and placed on board the Flag.

The navy department will at once issue proposals for the construction of the 10 sidewheel steamers and one or more iron clad vessels, recently authorized by congress.

Columbus, Aug. 6.

Hon. John C. Crittenden arrived this P. M., and made a highly patriotic speech this evening in Capitol Square, to a large and enthusiastic audience. He leaves for Cincinnati at 9 P. M. to-night.

Hundreds of people are coming to this state almost daily who have been driven out of Texas and Arkansas by the rebels.—They represent that if the federal government would send a force of arms to arm the people, more than one-half in both states would fight for the Union.—Dispatch.

It would seem as if the first duty of the government should be to furnish arms for the Union men in those border states, when they are in sufficient strength to protect themselves, for it is to them alone in the end that we must look, to uphold and keep in the Union, the states in which they reside. Foreign bayonets cannot do it. Therefore the imperative necessity of arming at once all Union men in the slave states who will aid in defending our common country.—Chicago Journal.

The method adopted in Missouri of appointing a committee of public safety in each county, who are made responsible for the defence of their locality, will be the most effective way. With such an organization, and plenty of arms and ammunition, the Union men in the slave states, can help themselves, which is far better than depending upon aid from the federal army.

Carl Schurz in Spain.—It was confidently asserted in many quarters, that Carl Schurz would not be received by the Spanish power as a representative from this country. We had seen no notice that he had been received, but the following from the Paris correspondent of the New York Times seems to be conclusive on the point: "The Moniteur publishes this morning the speeches made by Carl Schurz and the Queen of Spain, on the occasion of the reception by her Majesty of the American Minister. These speeches contain nothing remarkable beyond an apparent sincerity in the warm expressions of friendship of the two powers to each other. The length of the Queen's speech, however, as well as of that she delivered on the occasion of Mr. Preston's retirement, is quite unusual among European monarchs.

Gen. Rosecrans.—This gallant and accomplished officer is thus described by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Times:

Gen. Rosecrans is at Clarksburgh, and I must say that I never felt so much disappointed in any man in my life. There he stood with a miserable old blouse, of the very commonest material on, without a stitch indicative of his rank. The pants, sure enough, were of the very coarsest texture, and must have witnessed the affair at Rich Mountain. The shoes were common brogans, such as the soldiers wear, and must be at least three sizes too large for him. The cap was of a very coarse, miserable material. His flannel shirt was clean, but as coarse as a "high private's." In all, I took Gen. Rosecrans to be a "high private" who was very popular with the officers and men. He had a shake hands for everybody, and I noticed particularly that he had more to say to the men than the officers. Whenever his back was turned and out of hearing, the fellows would walk and say:

"That's the chap for you," "Won't he fight, eh?" "He's the bully boy," "Another round," "Just look at his eye, and you will be sure to see fight there."

Havelocks.—There is no necessity for making havelocks with ear-flaps. The back of the neck, extending down the spine, should be covered, but that is all. The immense hoods for which patterns have been numerously furnished, are useless and a failure. Cut them away at the sides; the fall protecting the neck is all that is wanted. So say all the authorities.

☞ The expenses of the government are now a million and a quarter per day.

The Scientific American says, wherever there is original genius, there will not be wanted occasions for its display, and then cites the case of Major Anderson, in Fort Sumter. The old traitorous Secretary of War had left a large number of shells, but without fuses.

Numbers of these shells intended for cannon firing were packed with powder, and common fuses containing percussion powder were placed in the holes. The wire of each fuse was then attached to a strong cord, and the shells were suspended carefully over the walls where they hung perfectly safe for action. By drawing the cord quickly—giving it a snap—the percussion powder of friction fuse became ignited, and the shell exploded. Had a storming party attacked the fort at night, these shells wo'd have scattered death and destruction among their ranks.

Failure of Claflin, Mellen & Co.—We announced on Saturday the failure of this celebrated house—the largest house in the United States. We understand some 60 days ago that the house was compelled to ask of the banks a loan of $3,000,000 to save them then. This was done and security taken to save the banks. We hear that their liabilities are $8,000,000. Their assets of course must also be enormous, but in the present state of the country largely unavailable.

MANUFACTURE OF FLOUR IN JANESVILLE.—The number of barrels of flour reported to the assessors of this city as manufactured at the different mills in this city is 208,000. Calculating five bushels of wheat to a barrel of flour, the amount of wheat ground is 1,040,000 bushels. This will do for a "backwoods town."

HOPE IT IS SO.—It is rumored that the Rothchilds have tendered the United States government a loan of $250,000,000.

ACCIDENT.—A child, eight years of age, of Mr. Loveland's, on Jordan Prairie, had his leg badly mangled in the gearing of a reaper, last Monday, in the harvest field.—It is though it will be necessary to amputate it close to the body.

UTAH INDIAN SUPERINTENDENCY.—The Madison Journal says: We hear that the office of Indian superintendent of Utah has been conferred on Hon. Walter D. McIndoe of this state. The appointment is a highly satisfactory one. Mr. McIndoe is well known in the state as a competent business man, while his character for integrity and fair dealing is well established.

THE HOT WEATHER AND THE ARMY WORM.—The Wisconsin says: We learn from a farmer in this county, that the intense heat of the past week has killed or driven away the army worm. Fields that were infested with them on Monday, the 29th ult., were free from them on Saturday, the 3d of August. If this should turn out to be the case in other sections of the state—the tropical heat was an excellent good thing.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last night a resident of the town of Magnolia, named Bishop, died at the house of Isaac Cronk, in the town of Janesville. He was passing along the road in a wagon, and stopped to converse with Mr. Cronk. While in conversation he became a good deal excited, and and commenced bleeding from the lungs. The bleeding was stopped for a time, and he was taken into the house of Mr. C. for care. After being in the house for some time, the bleeding again commenced and he expired in a few minutes.

THE NATURAL DESOLATION OF SECESSION.—The secessionists, like the Indians and Sepoys, burn and destroy whatever they touch. The St. Louis Democrat relates the following peculiarly hard case of the robbery of a good citizen who is in attendance at a legislative body originally called by the secession party of Missouri:

Mr. Leeper, one of the members of the convention from the south-east, has had the misfortune, during his absence at Jefferson City, to lose all his oxen, horses, wagons, grain and family stores, at the hands of the secession army which passed through his county.

☞ The Pioneer says that a party lately fished in the Oconto river, and in the space of three or four hours caught 427 trout. A trout was caught in White Fish river, which, after being dressed, salted and smoked, weighed 2 lbs. and 15 ounces and was 19 inches long.

OUR WOUNDED VOLUNTEERS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, in an account of a visit to the army hospital, makes a good report of the spirit of some of some of the wounded men of the Wisconsin Second. He says:

Most of the wounds are very slight, and with good treatment, are rapidly healing. The men speak freely and often with enthusiasm, of their part in the terrible fighting; and with scarce an exception, seem anxious to again encounter the enemy.

In one ward a member of the Wisconsin Second appealed to his fellows to know whether they were not desirous to renew the contest with the rebels. A prompt and hearty response in the affirmative came from every one. The spirit of our brave Wisconsin volunteers is in nowise broken by the untoward results of Sunday. They lament with unfeigned sincerity, the repulse of our arms, but they are eager to meet and determined to crush out the secession hosts. For them the star spangled banner has lost none of its charms, and a temporary defeat is but an incitement to renewed exertions in its defence.

A large portion of the patients at both the Georgetown hospitals are from the 79th (Highland) regiment and the Wisconsin Second, and I am convinced that in the various reports of the battles of these regiments have not been given the credit they richly deserve.

Of the gallant western boys no laudation can be overwrought. Among the first in the field and the last to retreat, they spilled their blood like water, and made a precious sacrifice for the honor of the flag under which their noble state has attained a high rank and influence in the republic.

The governor of the state and the truly chivalric Congressman Potter, are busily engaged in providing for every want of the wounded, and their presence is a great satisfaction to all who tasted their unaffected kindness.

WISCONSIN TROOPS.—Five companies of the fourth Wisconsin regiment, under command of Col. Payne, have arrived at Washington. The comfortable reception quarters at the depot, constructed under the direction of Commissioner Wood, afford a great relief to the weary soldiers on arrival. They are not only provided with sleeping berths, but the appliances for bathing, and something substantial for the stomach. This arrangement is a decided improvement on the early receptions, and will tend to remove the unfavorable impressions heretofore existing.—National Intelligencer. 1st.

Letters from the Janesville Volunteers.

CAMP CORCORAN, July 29th, '61.

FRIEND SARGENT AND NO. 2 BOYS:—I received your letter in due time, and having a little spare time, I thought I would answer it. We are all pretty well, nothing to boast of, but hope you are all sound, wind and limb. Henry, we have had some pretty hard fighting since we left Janesville. The boys as a general thing did well; if the officers had done as well as the men, we could have told a different story. It was pretty tough to see horses and riders, artillery and infantry, literally mown down like grass. After the first fire, I thought of nothing but going in on my nerve; but I will leave the boys to decide that. I am satisfied that I got both principal and interest on that old secesh debt of mine, and balanced accounts on the old plan of tare and tret. I could compare the battle to nothing but one continual storm of hail. Wherever you would cast your eye, you could see the mutilated body of a soldier. The Zouaves would cut and carve as unconcerned as if they were at a Thanksgiving dinner. In a charge, one of the Zouaves stuck his bayonet into the body of a secesher nearly splitting him in two. I merely speak of this as showing the style of these red-cap gents. The enemy have a little antipathy against them for some reason or other, which is better known among themselves: however, they always meet with a warm reception. The Zouaves are the most efficient troops the United States can boast of. This, any friends of the Janesville Fire Zouaves, you may think is touching your case. I mean it shall, for I know there are just as good men in Janesville as ever came from New York; all you want is a little warming up. Aside from the boys, the Janesville folks are my best hold, as Brother Blood says.

This is hardly the place to be collected, as one moment there will be rations wanted, guard to mount, soap to get for one of the boys, who, after wearing his shirt six weeks, is foolish enough to think it would do it good to get a soaking. I just had to drop my pencil to go and see a fight between a couple of Co. I's boys. They finally agreed to call it a draw game, take dinner, and go in again after dinner. Another fuss just now: a pot of bran soup upset; nobody did it—at least, they all say so,—and so it goes from morning till night. My friends, pencil cannot portray the beauties of camp life. I am sitting by the side of a boy who reported himself sick this morning. You ought to see his operative machanery masticate rations, which are preferable to castor oil and jalap.

I almost forgot to give you Lieut. McLean's compliments. He came off a hard guard this morning. The enemy are sneaking around; sentinels are being picked off pretty fast, so that we cannot tell at night who will draw our rations in the morning. You ought to see an alarm in camp—say about midnight. "Such a getting up stairs you never did see." We live in a constant state of excitement, which serves to drive away the blues. We often look down on the capital and its inhabitants, and think they can have no sport shut up in the city, while we are allowed the privilege, if you can call it so, of walking almost any place within half a mile of camp. We would like to go over to Washington and speak a word of consolation to the citizens, but that has played out. None but the good Lord and General Scott know where we will be sent next. I think we will stay here for a short time to recruit.

The Janesville mail has just arrived.—Right there over that dry-goods box you will see the boys pulling and hauling to get their letters. We just happened to have a shower of rain; thought I would look around to see if I could hear any news; missed a man in the rain storm; thought I would look over the quartermaster's old quarters to see if I could find him; saw a couple of barrels move a little; could not see any persons near; then gave the barrels a smart kick, and out rolls the lost boy. I marched him up to the tent called the Toombs, and left him to meditate on the next improvement. I write five minutes, then have to jump up and run for something, and so it goes. I had to swear just now: one of the boys tipped over my boards which I was writing on. I called him a —— fool. He appeared to be satisfied, and walked on, so there was no chance for an argument. My compliments to John, my son, also the rest of my family. Write soon, and give me all the particulars, as a letter from Janesville is received with much pleasure. Yours truly,

GEO. F. SAUNDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS, 5TH REGIMENT W. V.,
McKIM'S MANSION, BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.

FRIEND GIBBS:—You will observe that we have changed our position somewhat. On Tuesday last we received orders to strike tents at 3 o'clock next morning and start. We knew not whether we were going to Washington or Harper's Ferry, and I reckon from the sequel that no one else knew. But to our trip.

We had our tents struck at the time ordered, but through the negligence or mismanagement of the officers of the railroad company, we were compelled to stand, sit or lie beneath a sweltering sun until 3 o'clock, P. M., at which time, through the efforts of our officers, we got started—most of the regiment being in open cars. We ran about forty miles and stopped; we kept stopping until 5 o'clock the next morning. During the night those in the open cars received a bountiful supply of fresh water in the shape of rain, it having rained most of the time, making it particularly interesting. We got started again, and kept along at easy stages. As soon as we crossed the line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, we found at every bridge on the road, squads of the 4th Wisconsin regiment stationed to protect the bridges. The cheering done by the Badgers would have done you good to have heard.

We finally arrived at Baltimore at half-past 9, A. M., formed the regiment, one-half of the Zouaves on the right and the other half on the left, (that being the only company having arms,) and marched across the city to the Camden depot, a distance of about one and a half miles. We were somewhat disappointed in our march, for who would have expected that a regiment of federal soldiers, without arms, could pass through Baltimore without a fight, or at least receiving insults? We did, however. We waited at the depot until 6 P. M., expecting orders from Washington to either proceed to that place or Harper's Ferry. At that time we got orders (but they were from Gen. Dix,) to go into camp at this place. We re-formed once more and marched between three and four miles across the city, in the same order as in the morning, to the camping ground. We got our tents pitched about 10 o'clock.

We had the pleasure of seeing a street fight with pistols; it occurred just as our company were passing. The boys paid no attention to it. I have no doubt but that our success in marching through the streets without getting into a fight was owing entirely to the orderly conduct of our men.

While at the depot we were constantly furnished with ice water by Messrs. Robinson, Graham & Jarboe. These gentleman have supplied over one hundred thousand soldiers who have passed through this place going to the wars or returning, with water, the government having made no provision whatever in that respect. Mr. Jarboe informed me that the Union and secession men here are about equally divided, and that they have received all manner of insults and threats. They have also established a hospital for such soldiers as are taken sick here and left behind.

I believe there are encamped in and around this place, about 15,000 men. The city is under martial law, as you probably know, Gen. Dix being in command. There are two or three secession papers printed here—will send you some as soon as I get hold of them.

We are placed under the strictest rules here, being surrounded by the seceshers on all sides. Our camp is in the eighth ward, the worst in the city, the inhabitants being mostly secessionists.

There are about twenty men in the hospital, all but two of them being down with cholera morbus—or some other morbus. Having been poked with pastry since they started, they are now paying the penalty of their foolishness.

I am unable to say, with any certainty, what our destination will be, but think from present appearances we shall summer here. I hope, at least, that we shall get our arms before we are moved again, as it dangerous to run around loose, as we are doing, without something to protect ourselves with. Major Larrabee is in Washington attending to the matter, and we are in hopes of being placed in a position to do a little for our country.

Supper is ready, and I must stop for this time. Yours, etc.,

H. R. CLUM.

CAMP CORB, Baltimore, August 2d, 1861

DEAR GAZETTE:—We left Harrisburg on the afternoon of the 31st ult., and were soon under way for Baltimore by way of the N. C. R. R. We were to have departed by five in the morning, but as a locomative was off the track between Harrisburg and this place, we had to wait until that could be cleared away. We rode in freight cars, some of which were platform and others box cars. The platform cars had planked sides about fifteen inches high, and plank seats nailed across them. The box cars had holes cut in their sides and ends for windows, and had plank seats. We were put in, or rather on the open cars, and thus had plenty of air, hot sunshine, coal cinders and smoke, and a good view of the country. We went that day as far as York, where we slept on the cars all night: and although it rained hard, we slept very well. Early in the morning we went on, and soon were in this slumbering secession volcano. All along the road until we arrived here, we were well received by the people: as we went through villages, cheer after cheer of the people shook the air, and blessings, apples and boquets were showered upon us without stint. The greatest display we met with was at the Union Cotton Mills, near this city.—There are about 800 girls employed there, and the whole front of the mills was decorated with Union flags, and sweet, smiling faces greeted us from every window and doorway. Perhaps we did not cheer them, but I think we did; at any rate, I tried my lungs to the best of my ability. When we arrived here we were not allowed to cheer at all, and all the return we could make for the flags waved over us, was the military smile and salute. As we passed along several streets, we were well received, and the exclamation, "That's a good, hardy looking set of men," was heard in many places, and eager Union men ran to ask where we were from. In some places I heard the sneer of the rebels as we filed past their houses, and the cry, "See the foes of America," was heard where there were no police around.

We arrived here about 10 A. M., and expected to leave in about two hours for Washington or Harper's Ferry, but for some reason, I know not what, we did not go; and after waiting until sundown, we received orders to fall in and march out to camp.—We had to march through the blackest portion of the city on our way here, and for more than one mile of our way, we did not see a Union flag; and as we came past one house, a Union man and a rebel got into a quarrel about us, and one shot was fired, but no one hurt. The rebel called us all cowards and d—d sons of——well, I will not tell what; but the Union man told him not to use such talk there, and pushed him off the sidewalk. The rebel raised his pistol and fired, but no one could return it, as we were too near for it. As we marched past the Washington monument, we all reverently raised our caps, and the band played a slow step.

The new police are very active, and any attempt to raise a row, on the part of any one, is promptly stopped. The old police are to be seen around with heads down and looking like the breaking up of a hard winter. Until yesterday the police have allowed no one in the depot but soldiers when a train of them came in, and thus all has been kept quiet. A few of those who were known were allowed in yesterday, and among them I saw a young man by the name of Sparawk, whom I used to know in Janesville. He tells me that secession has killed the business of the city, except that of the flour and cotton mills. He says the rebels here are the aristocracy and the low, drunken Irish, and the Unionists are the working men who are in comfortable circumstances.

When we crossed the state line we found five companies of the 4th Wisconsin guarding the railroad from there to this place. We passed over two bridges which had been destroyed by the rebels and rebuilt by the government. Capt. Lagrange, of the Ripon Rifles, was well situated, having the guard of a long piece of the road.

The boys are nearly all well, and those sick are not dangerous, but are sick with the measles or are tired out. We left four sick at Harrisburg, among whom are Platt, Johnson, Warner, and one or two others.

All that keeps this place quiet is the fact that the whole town could be laid flat by Fort McHenry in a few hours and the troops situated near here. The commanding officer here will not allow any negroes in the camp to remain there, except those who are servants of the officers. Capt. Wheeler has one "contraband" who glorifies under the appellation of Geo. Washington.

The place where we are encamped is a high hill, dry and airy, and we have plenty of wood, good water, and good clean food, and men can live and fight, too, upon such fare as that. Sergeant Mills says he is the happiest man in the whole camp, and I believe him. Sergeant Cutts is a fat and jolly as ever, and no one can be lonely where his jolly, broad face is to be seen.

The daughter of the regiment, Miss Wilson, is with us tending on the sick, and those who have been sick say her visits to those on the sick list are not few or far between.

I nearly forgot to tell you that the papers speak of us as one of the best regiments which has been through here, and they say the last troops are all the best.

As I sit and write by the side of company E's camp chest, I see a balloon ascending from Fort McHenry for the purpose of seeing what is to be seen.

I have omitted to tell you that the farm where we are is owned by one McKeim, a rank secessianist, who has left for parts better suited to his feelings. The field officers are in possession of his house, which is very large; the hospital is there, also. We are not allowed to use any food brought to us by those around us, as they tried to poison one regiment which has been here.

I must close, as I have to get dinner; and if this letter lacks systematic arrangement, you must not be surprised, as I have been left in the orderly's tent to answer the thousand and one questions asked by every one. Braithwaite was left by accident at Little York night before last, but I think he will come up with the 6th regiment.

Yours in haste,
J. M. KIMBALL.

P. S.—I have forgotten to tell you, for the benefit of the ladies, that, without joking, the Union ladies here are by far the best looking, and one of them ran out and gave our color bearer a red, white and blue wreath to be put on our color standard, and we carry it there.

COMMERCIAL.

Janesville Wholesale Market.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, BY BUMP & GRAY, GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, AUGUST 7, 1861.

There were was no receipts of wheat on the market to-day, consequently we have no transactions to report, though had there been any wheat in prices would probably have ruled firm, as millers are short and would pay full prices rather than stop the mills. The recent favorable advices from the lake shore and eastern markets would also tend to strengthen prices. Receipts will continue to be very light until the new crop begins to come forward, which will be within the next three weeks, then we may look for busy times again, as there is plenty of wheat and of good quality, and should prices remain steady farmers would rush it forward rather than hold it for higher figures, as they did last fall.

We make up prices as follows:

WHEAT—good to extra milling spring 65a70, currency; fair to good dry shipping 55a62½; rejected 30a50. The above figures are for currency, a deduction of 5 and 8c per bushel is made payable in gold.

CORN—10a18 per 60 lbs. shelled, and 11a16c per 72 lbs., car.

OATS—good local and shipping demand at 14a15

RYE—quiet at 20a25c per 60 lbs.

BARLEY—dull sale at 15a25c per 50 lbs., common to good quality.

TIMOTHY SEED—dull at 1,40a1,75 per 46 lbs.

POTATOES—plenty and very dull at 10a15c. per

BUTTER—plenty at 10a12½c fair to choice roll.

EGGS—plenty and dull at 8c per dozen.

WOOL—ranges at 15a27c for common to choice fair clean clips.

HIDES—Green, 2½a3; Dry, 5a7.

FLOUR—spring at retail 2,25, per 100 lbs.

POULTRY—dressed turkeys, 6½a7; chickens, 5a6

SHEEP PELTS—range from 30c@90 each.

MANUFACTURE OF FLOUR IN JANESVILLE.—The number of barrels of flour reported to the assessors of this city as manufactured at the different mills in this city is 208,000. Calculating five bushels of wheat to a barrel of flour, the amount of wheat ground is 1,040,000 bushels. This will do for a "backwoods town."

HOPE IT IS SO.—It is rumored that the Rothchilds have tendered the United States government a loan of $250,000,000.

ACCIDENT.—A child, eight years of age, of Mr. Loveland's, on Jordan Prairie, had his leg badly mangled in the gearing of a reaper, last Monday, in the harvest field.—It is though it will be necessary to amputate it close to the body.

UTAH INDIAN SUPERINTENDENCY.—The Madison Journal says: We hear that the office of Indian superintendent of Utah has been conferred on Hon. Walter D. McIndoe of this state. The appointment is a highly satisfactory one. Mr. McIndoe is well known in the state as a competent business man, while his character for integrity and fair dealing is well established.

THE HOT WEATHER AND THE ARMY WORM.—The Wisconsin says: We learn from a farmer in this county, that the intense heat of the past week has killed or driven away the army worm. Fields that were infested with them on Monday, the 29th ult., were free from them on Saturday, the 3d of August. If this should turn out to be the case in other sections of the state—the tropical heat was an excellent good thing.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last night a resident of the town of Magnolia, named Bishop, died at the house of Isaac Cronk, in the town of Janesville. He was passing along the road in a wagon, and stopped to converse with Mr. Cronk. While in conversation he became a good deal excited, and and commenced bleeding from the lungs. The bleeding was stopped for a time, and he was taken into the house of Mr. C. for care. After being in the house for some time, the bleeding again commenced and he expired in a few minutes.

THE NATURAL DESOLATION OF SECESSION.—The secessionists, like the Indians and Sepoys, burn and destroy whatever they touch. The St. Louis Democrat relates the following peculiarly hard case of the robbery of a good citizen who is in attendance at a legislative body originally called by the secession party of Missouri:

Mr. Leeper, one of the members of the convention from the south-east, has had the misfortune, during his absence at Jefferson City, to lose all his oxen, horses, wagons, grain and family stores, at the hands of the secession army which passed through his county.

☞ The Pioneer says that a party lately fished in the Oconto river, and in the space of three or four hours caught 427 trout. A trout was caught in White Fish river, which, after being dressed, salted and smoked, weighed 2 lbs. and 15 ounces and was 19 inches long.

OUR WOUNDED VOLUNTEERS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, in an account of a visit to the army hospital, makes a good report of the spirit of some of some of the wounded men of the Wisconsin Second. He says:

Most of the wounds are very slight, and with good treatment, are rapidly healing. The men speak freely and often with enthusiasm, of their part in the terrible fighting; and with scarce an exception, seem anxious to again encounter the enemy.

In one ward a member of the Wisconsin Second appealed to his fellows to know whether they were not desirous to renew the contest with the rebels. A prompt and hearty response in the affirmative came from every one. The spirit of our brave Wisconsin volunteers is in nowise broken by the untoward results of Sunday. They lament with unfeigned sincerity, the repulse of our arms, but they are eager to meet and determined to crush out the secession hosts. For them the star spangled banner has lost none of its charms, and a temporary defeat is but an incitement to renewed exertions in its defence.

A large portion of the patients at both the Georgetown hospitals are from the 79th (Highland) regiment and the Wisconsin Second, and I am convinced that in the various reports of the battles of these regiments have not been given the credit they richly deserve.

Of the gallant western boys no laudation can be overwrought. Among the first in the field and the last to retreat, they spilled their blood like water, and made a precious sacrifice for the honor of the flag under which their noble state has attained a high rank and influence in the republic.

The governor of the state and the truly chivalric Congressman Potter, are busily engaged in providing for every want of the wounded, and their presence is a great satisfaction to all who tasted their unaffected kindness.

WISCONSIN TROOPS.—Five companies of the fourth Wisconsin regiment, under command of Col. Payne, have arrived at Washington. The comfortable reception quarters at the depot, constructed under the direction of Commissioner Wood, afford a great relief to the weary soldiers on arrival. They are not only provided with sleeping berths, but the appliances for bathing, and something substantial for the stomach. This arrangement is a decided improvement on the early receptions, and will tend to remove the unfavorable impressions heretofore existing.—National Intelligencer. 1st.

Letters from the Janesville Volunteers.

CAMP CORCORAN, July 29th, '61.

FRIEND SARGENT AND NO. 2 BOYS:—I received your letter in due time, and having a little spare time, I thought I would answer it. We are all pretty well, nothing to boast of, but hope you are all sound, wind and limb. Henry, we have had some pretty hard fighting since we left Janesville. The boys as a general thing did well; if the officers had done as well as the men, we could have told a different story. It was pretty tough to see horses and riders, artillery and infantry, literally mown down like grass. After the first fire, I thought of nothing but going in on my nerve; but I will leave the boys to decide that. I am satisfied that I get both principal and interest on that old secesh debt of mine, and balanced accounts on the old plan of tare and tret. I could compare the battle to nothing but one continual storm of hail. Wherever you would cast your eye, you could see the mutilated body of a soldier. The Zouaves would cut and carve as unconcerned as if they were at a Thanksgiving dinner. In a charge, one of the Zouaves stuck his bayonet into the body of a secesher nearly splitting him in two. I merely speak of this as showing the style of these red-cap gents. The enemy have a little antipathy against them for some reason or other, which is better known among themselves: however, they always meet with a warm reception. The Zouaves are the most efficient troops the United States can boast of. This, any friends of the Janesville Fire Zouaves, you may think is touching your case. I mean it shall, for I know there are just as good men in Janesville as ever came from New York; all you want is a little warming up. Aside from the boys, the Janesville folks are my best hold, as Brother Blood says.

This is hardly the place to be collected, as one moment there will be rations wanted, guard to mount, soap to get for one of the boys, who, after wearing his shirt six weeks, is foolish enough to think it would do it good to get a soaking. I just had to drop my pencil to go and see a fight between a couple of Co. I's boys. They finally agreed to call it a draw game, take dinner, and go in again after dinner. Another fuss just now: a pot of bran soup upset; nobody did it—at least, they all say so,—and so it goes from morning till night. My friends, pencil cannot portray the beauties of camp life. I am sitting by the side of a boy who reported himself sick this morning. You ought to see his operative machanery masticate rations, which are preferable to castor oil and jalap.

I almost forgot to give you Lieut. McLean's compliments. He came off a hard guard this morning. The enemy are sneaking around; sentinels are being picked off pretty fast, so that we cannot tell at night who will draw our rations in the morning. You ought to see an alarm in camp—say about midnight. "Such a getting up stairs you never did see." We live in a constant state of excitement, which serves to drive away the blues. We often look down on the capital and its inhabitants, and think they can have no sport shut up in the city, while we are allowed the privilege, if you can call it so, of walking almost any place within half a mile of camp. We would like to go over to Washington and speak a word of consolation to the citizens, but that has played out. None but the good Lord and General Scott know where we will be sent next. I think we will stay here for a short time to recruit.

The Janesville mail has just arrived.—Right there over that dry-goods box you will see the boys pulling and hauling to get their letters. We just happened to have a shower of rain; thought I would look around to see if I could hear any news; missed a man in the rain storm; thought I would look over the quartermaster's old quarters to see if I could find him; saw a couple of barrels move a little; could not see any persons near; then gave the barrels a smart kick, and out rolls the lost boy. I marched him up to the tent called the Toombs, and left him to meditate on the next improvement. I write five minutes, then have to jump up and run for something, and so it goes. I had to swear just now: one of the boys tipped over my boards which I was writing on. I called him a —— fool. He appeared to be satisfied, and walked on, so there was no chance for an argument. My compliments to John, my son, also the rest of my family. Write soon, and give me all the particulars, as a letter from Janesville is received with much pleasure. Yours truly,

GEO. F. SAUNDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS, 5TH REGIMENT W. V.,
McKEIM'S MANSION, BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.

FRIEND GIBBS:—You will observe that we have changed our position somewhat. On Tuesday last we received orders to strike tents at 3 o'clock next morning and start. We knew not whether we were going to Washington or Harper's Ferry, and I reckon from the sequel that no one else knew. But to our trip.

We had our tents struck at the time ordered, but through the negligence or mismanagement of the officers of the railroad company, we were compelled to stand, sit or lie beneath a sweltering sun until 3 o'clock, P. M., at which time, through the efforts of our officers, we got started—most of the regiment being in open cars. We ran about forty miles and stopped; we kept stopping until 5 o'clock the next morning. During the night those in the open cars received a bountiful supply of fresh water in the shape of rain, it having rained most of the time, making it particularly interesting. We got started again, and kept along at easy stages. As soon as we crossed the line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, we found at every bridge on the road, squads of the 4th Wisconsin regiment stationed to protect the bridges. The cheering done by the Badgers would have done you good to have heard.

We finally arrived at Baltimore at half-past 9, A. M., formed the regiment, one-half of the Zouaves on the right and the other half on the left, (that being the only company having arms,) and marched across the city to the Camden depot, a distance of about one and a half miles. We were somewhat disappointed in our march, for who would have expected that a regiment of federal soldiers, without arms, could pass through Baltimore without a fight, or at least receiving insults? We did, however. We waited at the depot until 6 P. M., expecting orders from Washington to either proceed to that place or Harper's Ferry. At that time we got orders (but they were from Gen. Dix,) to go into camp at this place. We re-formed once more and marched between three and four miles across the city, in the same order as in the morning, to the camping ground. We got our tents pitched about 10 o'clock.

We had the pleasure of seeing a street fight with pistols; it occurred just as our company were passing. The boys paid no attention to it. I have no doubt but that our success in marching through the streets without getting into a fight was owing entirely to the orderly conduct of our men.

While at the depot we were constantly furnished with ice water by Messrs. Robinson, Graham & Jarboe. These gentleman have supplied over one hundred thousand soldiers who have passed through this place going to the wars or returning, with water, the government having made no provision whatever in that respect. Mr. Jarboe informed me that the Union and secession men here are about equally divided, and that they have received all manner of insults and threats. They have also established a hospital for such soldiers as are taken sick here and left behind.

I believe there are encamped in and around this place, about 15,000 men. The city is under martial law, as you probably know, Gen. Dix being in command. There are two or three secession papers printed here—will send you some as soon as I get hold of them.

We are placed under the strictest rules here, being surrounded by the seceshers on all sides. Our camp is in the eighth ward, the worst in the city, the inhabitants being mostly secessionists.

There are about twenty men in the hospital, all but two of them being down with cholera morbus—or some other morbus. Having been poked with pastry since they started, they are now paying the penalty of their foolishness.

I am unable to say, with any certainty, what our destination will be, but think from present appearances we shall summer here. I hope, at least, that we shall get our arms before we are moved again, as it dangerous to run around loose, as we are doing, without something to protect ourselves with. Major Larrabee is in Washington attending to the matter, and we are in hopes of being placed in a position to do a little for our country.

Supper is ready, and I must stop for this time. Yours, etc.,

H. R. CLUM.

CAMP COBB, Baltimore, August 2d, 1861.

DEAR GAZETTE:—We left Harrisburg on the afternoon of the 31st ult., and were soon under way for Baltimore by way of the N. C. R. R. We were to have departed by five in the morning, but as a locomative was off the track between Harrisburg and this place, we had to wait until that could be cleared away. We rode in freight cars, some of which were platform and others box cars. The platform cars had planked sides about fifteen inches high, and plank seats nailed across them. The box cars had holes cut in their sides and ends for windows, and had plank seats. We were put in, or rather on the open cars, and thus had plenty of air, hot sunshine, coal cinders and smoke, and a good view of the country. We went that day as far as York, where we slept on the cars all night; and although it rained hard, we slept very well. Early in the morning we went on, and soon were in this slumbering secession volcano. All along the road until we arrived here, we were well received by the people: as we went through villages, cheer after cheer of the people shook the air, and blessings, apples and bouquets were showered upon us without stint. The greatest display we met with was at the Union Cotton Mills, near this city.—There are about 800 girls employed there, and the whole front of the mills was decorated with Union flags, and sweet, smiling faces greeted us from every window and doorway. Perhaps we did not cheer them, but I think we did; at any rate, I tried my lungs to the best of my ability. When we arrived here we were not allowed to cheer at all, and all the return we could make for the flags waved over us, was the military smile and salute. As we passed along several streets, we were well received, and the exclamation, "That's a good, hardy looking set of men," was heard in many places, and eager Union men ran to ask where we were from. In some places I heard the sneer of the rebels as we filed past their houses, and the cry, "See the foes of America," was heard where there were no police around.

We arrived here about 10 A. M., and expected to leave in about two hours for Washington or Harper's Ferry, but for some reason, I know not what, we did not go; and after waiting until sundown, we received orders to fall in and march out to camp.—We had to march through the blackest portion of the city on our way here, and for more than one mile of our way, we did not see a Union flag; and as we came past one house, a Union man and a rebel got into a quarrel about us, and one shot was fired, but no one hurt. The rebel called us all cowards and d—d sons of——well, I will not tell what; but the Union man told him not to use such talk there, and pushed him off the sidewalk. The rebel raised his pistol and fired, but no one could return it, as we were too near for it. As we marched past the Washington monument, we all reverently raised our caps, and the band played a slow step.

The new police are very active, and any attempt to raise a row, on the part of any one, is promptly stopped. The old police are to be seen around with heads down and looking like the breaking up of a hard winter. Until yesterday the police have allowed no one in the depot but soldiers when a train of them came in, and thus all has been kept quiet. A few of those who were known were allowed in yesterday, and among them I saw a young man by the name of Sparawk, whom I used to know in Janesville. He tells me that secession has killed the business of the city, except that of the flour and cotton mills. He says the rebels here are the aristocracy and the low, drunken Irish, and the Unionists are the working men who are in comfortable circumstances.

When we crossed the state line we found five companies of the 4th Wisconsin guarding the railroad from there to this place. We passed over two bridges which had been destroyed by the rebels and rebuilt by the government. Capt. Lagrange, of the Ripon Rifles, was well situated, having the guard of a long piece of the road.

The boys are nearly all well, and those sick are not dangerous, but are sick with the measles or are tired out. We left four sick at Harrisburg, among whom are Platt, Johnson, Warner, and one or two others.

All that keeps this place quiet is the fact that the whole town could be laid flat by Fort McHenry in a few hours and the troops situated near here. The commanding officer here will not allow any negroes in the camp to remain there, except those who are servants of the officers. Capt. Wheeler has one "contraband" who glorifies under the appellation of Geo. Washington.

The place where we are encamped is a high hill, dry and airy, and we have plenty of wood, good water, and good clean food, and men can live and fight, too, upon such fare as that. Sergeant Mills says he is the happiest man in the whole camp, and I believe him. Sergeant Cutts is a fat and jolly as ever, and no one can be lonely where his jolly, broad face is to be seen.

The daughter of the regiment, Miss Wilson, is with us tending on the sick, and those who have been sick say her visits to those on the sick list are not few or far between.

I nearly forgot to tell you that the papers speak of us as one of the best regiments which has been through here, and they say the last troops are all the best.

As I sit and write by the side of company E's camp chest, I see a balloon ascending from Fort McHenry for the purpose of seeing what is to be seen.

I have omitted to tell you that the farm where we are is owned by one McKeim, a rank secessianist, who has left for parts better suited to his feelings. The field officers are in possession of his house, which is very large; the hospital is there, also. We are not allowed to use any food brought to us by those around us, as they tried to poison one regiment which has been here.

I must close, as I have to get dinner; and if this letter lacks systematic arrangement, you must not be surprised, as I have been left in the orderly's tent to answer the thousand and one questions asked by every one. Braithwaite was left by accident at Little York night before last, but I think he will come up with the 6th regiment.

Yours in haste,

J. M. KIMBALL.

P. S.—I have forgotten to tell you, for the benefit of the ladies, that, without joking, the Union ladies here are by far the best looking, and one of them ran out and gave our color bearer a red, white and blue wreath to be put on our color standard, and we carry it there.

COMMERCIAL.

Janesville Wholesale Market.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, BY

BUMP & GRAY.
GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, August 7, 1861.

There were was no receipts of wheat on the market to-day, consequently we have no transactions to report, though had there been any wheat in prices would probably have ruled firm, as millers are short and would pay full prices rather than stop the mills. The recent favorable advices from the lake shore and eastern markets would also tend to strengthen prices. Receipts will continue to be very light until the new crop begins to come forward; which will be within the next three weeks, then we may look for busy times again, as there is plenty of wheat and of good quality, and should prices remain steady farmers would rush it forward rather than hold it for higher figures, as they did last fall.

We make up prices as follows:

WHEAT—good to extra milling spring 65a70, currency; fair to good dry shipping 65a62½; rejected 30a50. The above figures are for currency, a deduction of 5 and 8c per bushel is made payable in gold.

CORN—16a18 per 80 lbs. shelled, and 11a16c per 72 lbs., ear.

OATS—good local and shipping demand at 14a15.

RYE—quiet at 20a25c per 60 lbs.

BARLEY—dull sale at 15a25c per 50 lbs., common to good quality.

TIMOTHY SEED—dull at 1,40a1,75 per 46 lbs.

POTATOES—plenty and very dull at 10a15c. per

BUTTER—plenty at 10a12½c fair to choice roll.

EGGS—plenty and dull at 8c per dozen.

WOOL—ranges at 15a27c for common to choice fair clean clips:

HIDES—Green, 2½a3; Dry, 5a7.

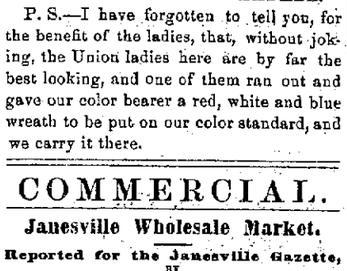

FLOUR—spring at retail 2,25, per 100 lbs.

POULTRY—dressed turkeys, 6½a7; chickens, 5a6

SHEEP PELTS—range from 30c@90 each.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

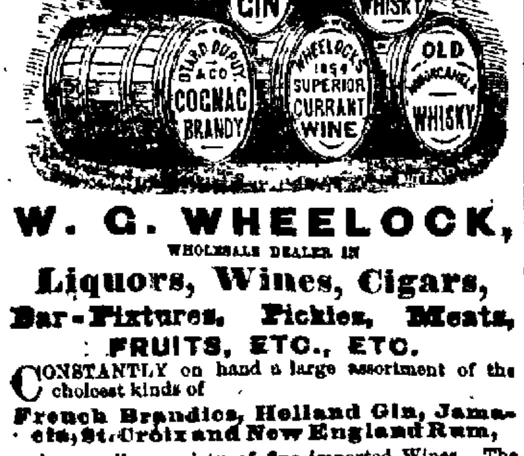

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

McKey & Bro.'s July Circular.

GREAT ARRIVAL

OF

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March

HAS DOUBLED

that of former years, for the same period; all owing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the

Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

in the United States, consisting of

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also, at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

Received this day 50 Bales of

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About

10,000 Yards of Lawns

on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

OUR STOCK OF

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

We have now open and ready for inspection between 3000 and 5000

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Erminettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Toile De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Bereges and many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

It is now conceded that McKey & Bro.'s Clothing House is the place to get Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

Boots and Shoes

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming

Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

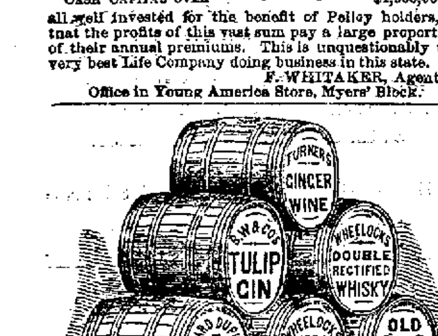

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,900,000

McKey & Bro.'s July Circular.

OF

AT

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March

HAS DOUBLED

that of former years, for the same period; allowing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the

Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

in the United States, consisting of

MERRIMACK, COCHECO, PHILLIP ALLEN'S, SPRAGUES

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also,

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

Received this day 50 Bales of

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About

10,000 Yards of Lawns

on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

OUR STOCK OF

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

We have now open and ready for inspection between 3000 and 5000

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Erminettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Tolle De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Bereges and many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

It is now conceded that McKey & Bro.'s Clothing House is the place to get Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

Boots and Shoes

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming

Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.

THE MISSOURI DEMOCRAT.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1861.

GREAT INDUCEMENTS OFFERED
FOR Getting up Clubs.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly!

THE Democrat will continue to be a faithful advocate and supporter of the principles of the republican party. Its energies will be especially devoted to the west—to the advocacy of western interests and the assertion of western rights. The administration of Abraham Lincoln shall receive its cordial and unfaltering support. The great measures of a Pacific railroad on the central route; free lands for the landless; the improvement of river navigation; retrenchment and reform in all the departments of the federal government, will be urged with that zeal and devotion which have won for the Democrat its present position. On all questions it will boldly espouse the right, and only seek its advancement through the public good.

ITS NEWS, LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS, shall be all that readers could desire. The Political, Agricultural and Manufacturing interests of the country shall receive due attention.

THE COMMERCIAL CHARACTER of the Democrat is well established. This important interest is under the management of one thoroughly familiar with commercial affairs, and we pledge our honor that its figures shall always be the true index of trade here, while it furnishes daily more commercial news than any other paper in Missouri.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION IS DIRECTED TO OUR GREAT DOLLAR WEEKLY!

The largest paper in the country for the price of one dollar.

THE TRI-WEEKLY DEMOCRAT, at $4,00 per annum, is the most complete paper of its kind in the west. It is especially valuable to River and Railroad Merchants. It contains the complete Commercial, River and Telegraph news of each Daily issue, besides all the interesting news matter and editorial of the Daily.

TERMS STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Daily, one year,	$8,00
Tri-Weekly, one year,	4,00
Weekly, one year,	1,00

DAILY GAZETTE.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

McClellan was selected by Jeff. Davis himself, who was the secretary of war, to go to the Crimea to observe the great battles. It will be a little curious if the knowledge which he there gained should be the means of overthrowing the man who put him in position to receive the instruction.

WELL PUT.—While one of the chaplains of the army was repeating this line of the Lord's prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread"—a soldier added with a loud voice —"fresh."

The Austrians have an odd way of increasing the circulation of newspapers.—The police recently closed twenty-seven coffee houses in Venice because they refused to take the Verona Gazette.

Forged-iron plates have been used as targets for the 128-pound Armstrong gun and have proved superior to rolled iron in resisting shot. In a plate of six and a half inches in thickness only an indention of two inches was made at a distance of 400 yards. A plate of two inches thickness, placed at one hundred yards distance, resisted the force of a twelve pound shot, but a forty pound shot passed through it.

WAR SPIRIT IN HENRY COUNTY, ILL.—The board of supervisors in Henry county, in this state, have appropriated ten thousand dollars for the purpose of equipping volunteer companies raised in that county, and for the support of the families of soldiers. Three auditing commissioners have been appointed for disbursing the fund appropriated. It is proposed to uniform four companies in addition to the one which entered the service under the ten regiment bill.

WHAT MR. BUCHANAN'S NEIGHBORS SAY ABOUT HIM.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal who has been traveling through Pennsylvania, writes:

A neighbor of Mr. Buchanan was in the cars. He represents that the ex-president has long been dangerously sick from sheer exhaustion. He has little sympathy from his fellow townsmen, who upbraid him as being the author of all our national troubles. He is obliged to hear much that must wound him, and letters by the basketful are sent to him full of abuse and calumny, and so much so that while he was sick his friends would not allow him to see any letters, unless they knew where they were from. Miss Lane is represented as making herself agreeable to all who call, and keeping open house to all who come to Wheatland, with that same grace that made her so popular at the White House.

ANECDOTE OF FLOYD.—An anecdote is told us of Floyd, the great Virginia thief, which we have not seen in print. A few years since, a gentleman residing in Richmond, Virginia, gave a large dinner party to some distinguished men, among whom was Floyd, then a rising man, but whose personal appearance indicated neither mental nor physical superiority, he being a pursy, dark-complexioned man, with cripsy, wiry hair. Among the distinguished guests were two Indian chiefs, returning from a visit to their "Great Father," the President —magnificent specimens of their race.—Floyd, thinking to compliment them, and make them at their ease, told them, in a condescending manner, that he could boast of Indian blood in his veins, being a descendant of Pocahontas. One of the chiefs, drawing himself up majestically and disdainfully, and with a look of contempt upon his noble countenance, said in broken English, "Ugh! no! no! nigur! nigur!" The confusion and dismay of Floyd was complete, and it required all the boasted politeness of Richmond society to keep the other guests from exploding with laughter. —Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The 5th Connecticut regiment, Col. Orris S. Ferry, of Norwalk, which has just gone to the war, was known as "Colonel Colt's regiment" during its earlier formation, the colonel offering to arm and equip it himself. His patriotic offer was duly rewarded by complimentary mention in Gov. Buckingham's message, and by a legislative vote of thanks; and after he had got this he backed down, remanded his rifles, and threw the regiment on the state. So the people of Connecticut don't call it "Col. Colt's regiment" any longer.

A FUNNY FUGITIVE.—A runaway slave who made his way to Cairo, where he did good service in the entrenchments, was asked if he did not wish to go back and fight. He replied with a grimace, "Laws, no, Massee, dis nigger is not a fightin' nigger! he's a runnin' nigger,"

A LITTLE TOO SMART FOR AN UNPRINCIPLED HUSBAND.—A German of Chicago, named Henry Geyer, some years ago procured an Indiana divorce from his wife.—This he kept, to use as occasion offered, and continued to live with Mrs. Geyer as before. Recently he thought it would be a pleasant thing to bring the document in force, and so produced it, when the sharp woman's wit of the wife checkmated him entirely, by procuring his arrest for bastardy, as the father of her unborn child. So Mr. Geyer was taken to jail, and is there held awaiting a hearing. He professes himself willing to marry her over again, and sink the Indiana divorce.

Milton was once asked, "How is it that in some countries a king is allowed to take his place on the throne at fourteen years of age, but may not marry until he is eighteen?" "Because," said the poet, "it is easier to govern a kingdom than a woman."

CANNON FOR WASHINGTON.—A battery of rifled cannon, borrowed from the state of New York, will be sent to Washington this afternoon. These are ten-pounder Parrott guns. They are mounted and ready for use. Ten twenty-pounders, not mounted, are also to be sent, with a quantity of shots and shell.—N. Y. Post, 3d.

A WISCONSIN SOLDER.—In the battle of Bull's Run, Henry Benson of Kenosha county, Wis., fought gallantly with his regiment, the 2d Wisconsin. He was first shot through the hand, and exclaimed, "There goes one hand for the Union. Rally, boys, and down with the traitors!" Just then a ball struck him near the heart. He died, exclaiming, "Tell my father I die like a man fighting for the Union."

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Skirmish at Dug Spring.

We have been fearful that Gen. Lyon was in danger as his forces at Springfield, Missouri, have been reduced by the departure of three months' troops, to less than 8,000 men, while McCulloch commands a secession force of 20,000 in his immediate vicinity. But the skirmish which took place last Friday, wherein 270 federal troops charged through a body of rebels from 2,000 to 4,000 strong, killing 40 and wounding as many more, and putting the rebels to flight, reassures us. Although the odds are greatly against Lyon, we confidently expect to hear that he has beaten and dispersed the enemy before this time.

Union Victory in Kentucky.

At the election held in Kentucky on Monday last, for members of the legislature, the Union party succeeded by overwhelming majorities. The popular majority is fifty or sixty thousand, while there are probably not more than a dozen secessionists elected in the whole state. This result is glorious. Now let Kentucky repudiate the cowardly policy of neutrality, and take her stand with her noble son, Joseph Holt, in favor of making war upon the traitors who are endeavoring to destroy their country.

The Confiscation Bill.

This bill, introduced into the senate by Mr. Trumbull, became a law. It provides for confiscating all moveable effects taken from armed men resisting the government, or aiding and abetting its enemies. It was amended, on motion of Mr. Bingham, so that whenever, during the present insurrection, any person held to service or labor shall be employed in the military or naval service, the person to whom such service or labor is due shall forfeit his claim to the same. This may do some good, but it falls far short of the exigencies of the occasion. The slaves of all traitors should be declared free, whether employed in the military service of the rebels or not. There is, however, a higher law than all this—the law of military necessity, which no commander has a right to disobey when his army is in danger, and which may be called into action before the rebellion is crushed.

South-East Missouri.

The region of country, back of Bird's Point, and between New Madrid and Cape Girardeau, in Missouri, has suddenly become important by reason of the movements of the rebel General Pillow. It may be interesting to know the distances in that region, as we are likely to hear of a contest there before many days, between the contending forces.

The Mississippi river makes a considerable bend just above Bird's Point, towards the east and does not entirely regain its southern course until it reaches New Madrid, so that Bird's Point is an ox-bow of the river. The distance across the bow, or peninsula, is forty miles, while around by the river it is seventy mile. A railroad west, cuts off the upper part of this peninsula, runs back to Buffington, thirty-seven miles, and there terminates. A secession force of some 3,000 under Jeff Thompson, has taken possession of Sykestown, twenty-six miles from Bird's Point, and burnt the bridges on the railroad for eight or ten miles further towards Bird's Point. It will be noticed that the first thing a secession army does is to burn railroad bridges wherever it can get at them, and when the Union army comes along they rebuild; that is one of the differences between them.

Sykesville, which is tee nearest point the secessionists have approached Bird's Point in any force, is in the midst of a rich and well cultivated country, called West Prairie, and is occupied by wealthy planters, who are large slaveholders, and sympathise with the rebels. Jeff Thompson is therefore at home. He had advanced his forces, at the latest dates, ten miles north of the railroad, towards Cape Girardeau. This latter place is thirty miles above Bird's Point, on the Mississippi river, so that the enemy may either attack that place or Bird's Point as he chooses; but the probability is that he means to attack Cape Girardeau. The federal troops there amount to about five thousand, with a battery of six pieces of artillery.

Secretary of War.—It has been rumored that Hon. Joseph Holt, of Ky., was appointed secretary of war in place of Cameron. There is probably a mistake about this, as the statement has not been confirmed. Should there be a vacancy the people would be highly gratified at such an appointment.

☞ One of the gratifying circumstances connected with the election in Kentucky is the defeat of the degenerate son of Henry Clay, for the legislature, in Fayette county. He is a secessionist of the Breckinridge stamp, "sugar-coated" with the neutrality dodge.

☞ Nine new Missouri regiments will be added to the forces of Gen. Fremont.

A Rebel Account.

An Incident.—A correspondent of the Richmond Despatch, in giving a report of the last battle at Bull's Run, says:

"Shortly afterwards, Generals Beauregard, Johnston, and Bonham, accompanied by their aids, came galloping up the hill, and dismounted on the summit. Just at this time, by the aid of our glass, we could see their guns brought to bear on the hill where we stood, for in a few moments the smoke was discovered issuing from their batteries of rifled cannon, and before scarcely a word could be said, the peculiar whiz and hissing of the balls notified us that their aim had been well taken. Several balls fell in a field immediately behind us, and not a hundred yards from the spot where the generals stood. An officer of General Beauregard's staff requested us to leave the hill, and as we moved away, a shell burst not twenty feet off. The enemy no doubt discovered the horses of the generals, and thought it a good opportunity to display their markmanship, and credit is due to them for the accuracy of their aim."

This correspondent gives some of the particulars of the battle, which as they relate to the rebels themselves, are not probably overdrawn. Of the attack he says:

"They pressed our left flank for several hours with terrible effect, but our men flinched not til their number had been so diminished by the well aimed and steady volleys that they were compelled to give way for new regiments. The 7th and 8th Georgia regiments, commanded by the gallant and lamented Bartow, are said to have suffered heavily during the early part of the battle.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock large numbers of men were leaving the field, some of them wounded, others exhausted by the long struggle, who gave the most gloomy reports; but as the fire on both sides continued steadily, we felt sure that our brave southerners had not been conquered by the overwhelming hordes of the north. It is, however, due to truth to say that the result at this hour hung trembling in the balance. We had lost numbers of our most distinguished officers. Generals Bartow and Bee had been stricken down; Lieut. Col. Johnson [illegible] the Hampton Legion, had been killed [illegible] Hampton had been wounded.

Your correspondent heard Gen. Johnston exclaim to Gen. Cocke, just at the critical moment—"Oh, for four regiments!" His wish was answered, for in the distance our reinforcements appeared.

The tide of the battle turned in our favor by the arrival of Gen. Kirby Smith, from Winchester, with four thousand men of Gen. Johnston's division.

Gen. Smith heard, while on the Manassas railroad cars, the roar of battle. He stopped the train and hurried his troops across the fields to the point just where he was most needed. They were at first supposed to be the enemy, their arrival at that point of the field being entirely unexpected.

I should remark that it had been General Beauregard's purpose to make the attack, instead of waiting to receive it; but from some cause unknown to me, he preferred at last to let the enemy take the initiative; perhaps for the reason that Gen. Johnston's division had been detained on the railroad.

There are other statements in this letter in relation to the loss of the federal troops, the number engaged in the battle, the amount of material captured, &c., which we know are greatly exaggerated, but there is one fact plainly indicated, and indeed admitted, that before the heavy reinforcements of the enemy came up, the day was ours—a confirmation of what all our soldiers have said, and valuable because it is the admission of an opponent. The charge that our men assumed any disguises or fought under any than their own regimental flags, is wholly untrue.

From the Washington Republican.

The Wisconsin Second at Bull's Run.

Owing to a variety of causes, some of the regiments engaged in the battle of the 21st of July have failed to receive so favorable a notice as they deserve.

Among such might be mentioned the second regiment of Wisconsin. This regiment was in the advance of Col. Sherman's brigade during the engagement of the 18th and is highly complimented by that officer for their coolness in their first exposure to the enemy's batteries. In the battle of Sunday, the 21st, they were attached to the same brigade, with the thirteenth, sixty-ninth and seventy-ninth of New York.

Up to ten o'clock, A. M., this regiment served as supporters of Gen. Sherman's battery, when they had orders to cross the stream, leaving the battery behind them. Marching up the steep hill in the double quick, they were soon formed at the top in battle order. In a few moments the order came to charge upon the rebel's batteries, which were directly in front, across the valley. Here the "Badger boys" made a gallant charge down the declivity and up the opposite side, pouring volleys of musket shot into the enemy's ranks. In this engagement, where they were exposed an hour and a half to the double fires of the enemy's artillery and infantry, they lost some thirty killed and sixty wounded. The Fire Zouaves, who occupied a position during the engagement directly to the right, were often heard to say that the "Wisconsin boys fight bravely;" "they are the boys for us," &c. After the order had been given to retreat, and the regiment had recrossed Bull Run, the cavalry made an attempt to capture their regimental colors, but a sudden charge upon the cavalry emptied eleven or twelve of their saddles, and scattered the rest in confusion. At Centreville they halted and reformed, when one of the corporals in Capt. Allen's company rode up a fine horse that he had captured, and dismounted, telling the captain to take his horse, that he would rather go back and be shot than to make the retreat. And such was the feeling of a large portion of the regiment. They did not think themselves whipped, and nothing but positive orders from headquarters compelled them to leave Centerville. At Fairfax they stopped two hours, when the men were ordered to lie down and sleep till they should receive orders to march. Dr. Salter, correspondent of the New York Times, accompanied the regiment from Centerville to Fairfax, and took supper at the latter place with some of the officers.

The regiment was one of the last to leave the field, being preceded all the way by the sixty-ninth. They returned to camp in good order, occupying their old ground on Arlington Heights, without the loss of any provisions or blankets, and with but a very small loss of arms. The men are reported to be doing well, and more eager for a fray than before, and will go into the battle again with more coolness, but no more courage.

Gen. Pillow's Chain-Cable.—Previous to Gen. Pillow being superceded by Bishop Polk, he went to New Orleans and procured a huge chain-cable, costing him $25,000, and brought it to Memphis to blockade the river, by stretching it over and resting it upon buoys! The cable, carriage and work cost about $30,000. The first big tide that came, bringing down the usual amount of trees, logs and drift wood, swept his cable and its supporters, as any flat boat captain would have informed the authorities would certainly be the case.—Knoxville Whig.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The House adjourned sine die. The bills which passed both houses were approved by the President, who yielded a reluctant approval to that for the confiscation of property used for rebellious purposes.

Each house provided separately for increase of pay to volunteers and regular soldiers $4 per month, but finally they united on a bill which will increase the pay to only $2 per month.

Many members of both houses leave to-day for their homes.

Senator Latham will not return to California during the recess.

Washington, Aug. 6.

Special to Post.—The treasury department has received advices of the most encouraging character in relation to the national loan.

There is no doubt but that the loan will all be taken up.

The nominations for brigadier generals have all been confirmed by the senate.

It is understood that the rebeles continue to receive supplies of arms from Maryland.

A day or two since a wagon broke down near Millersville, Maryland, about midway between Annapolis and the Junction, and on examination was found to contain arms.

The inabitants permitted it to proceed as soon as it had been repaired.

Every road leading to southern Maryland is now closed.

Prince Napoleon accompanied by Secretary Seward and the French Minister, have gone to Mount Vernon on a government steamer.

Baltimore, July 6.

There is nothing of any moment from Old Point to-day.

The foundry of Poole & Hunt, of Baltimore county, just beyond the city limits, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $20,[illegible]; insured $13,000, partly in New York and Philadelphia.

New York, Aug. 6.

The brigs Naid, Machias and Ben Dunning, seized by the privateer Sumter near Cyanue, arrived at this port to-day. They were released by order of the Spanish government, and sailed under convoy of the U. S. steamer Crusader as far as Cape Antonio.

Washington, Aug. 6.

The navy department is in receipt of a letter from commodore Goldsboro of the U. S. steamer Union, dated Hampton Roads yesterday, in which he says the brig ashore near Cape Hatteras, about which there was so much speculation, proved to be the brig Martin of Boston, which had been in possession of the rebels.

Gen. Butler has returned to Fortress Monroe, and it is now stated that no immediate change will be made in the command of that post, except that it is expected that Gen. Butler will retire before another advance movement.

It appears by official advices from the Gulf squadron that on the 4th of July the U. S. steamer South Carolina captured six schooners, one on the 5th, and run on shore on the 6th one, on the 7th one, making in all ten said to have been captured or destroyed.

On the 5th of July, off Starks, Florida, the Mohawk captured the sloop George B. Sloat, attempting to run the blockade.

There were as passengers on board, the wife, three children and servants of Adjt. General Holland of Florida. Mrs. Holland claimed the secession flag as private property and secured it to her person so that the captain could not obtain it without using violence to a lady who was in a "delicate situation," so he desisted from taking the prize.

Mr. McClellan's appointment as brigadier general is very gratifying to the friends of the government.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Washington Aug. 6, 1861.

A pleasure trip is being made to Mount Vernon, to-day, in one of the Potomac steamers, for the benefit of Prince Napoleon, who is accompanied by Secretary Seward and a large party. A detachment of our troops are stationed nearest to the old Mansion, on the Virginia side, but there is a rebel force not far distant, and it is feared lest the party may be in danger from rebel pickets. It is not as safe now, as formerly, to visit the resting place of Washington.

Of the brigadier generals confirmed by the senate only Generals Anderson and Rosencranz are placed in the regular army list, the others being for the volunteer service. Those not hitherto named are Col. J. Wolcott Phelps of the Vermont 1st; A. S. Williams and Israel P. Richardson of Michigan, and Gov. Sprague and Col. Burnsides of Rhode Island. Gen. McClelland of Illinois has earned his honors this session.

A trustworthy fugitive from Memphis describes the whipping of several men and one woman—a school teacher—for a very little free speech.

There is wonder in diplomatic circles at the omission of all the Ambassabors, save Lord Lyons, from the dinner to Prince Napoleon. Special indignation is felt that the Italian Minister was excluded.

Prince Napoleon was gone all day to Mount Vernon and returned safely this evening. The party saw no rebel soldiers.—The prince declined the offer of an armed steamer with a flag of truce. The party returned much delighted with the trip.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 2.

A battle occurred to-day at Dug Spring, 19 miles south of this place, between the federal forces under General Lyon, and the rebel troops under Ben. McCulloch, in which 8 of the former were killed and 30 wounded, and 40 of the latter killed and 40 wounded. Gen. Lyon took 80 stand of arms and 15 horses and wagons. Two hundred and seventy U. S. cavalry made a charge upon a body of rebel infantry, said to have been 4,000, cut their way through them, and returned with a loss of five men. The charge was most gallant and terrible, several of the rebels being found with the heads cloven entirely through. The enemy retired during the night, and Gen. Lyon took possession of the field. Another battle was momentarily expected, the enemy being in large force west of Springfield. Particulars as soon as possible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 4.

Colonel Black's regiment, nine hundred strong, left last evening for Harrisburg, where they will be armed. There is a great military enthusiasm here. Twelve hundred troops from the west passed through this morning. Three hundred regulars from Dacotah left this afternoon for Washington in charge of Lieut. Day. The paymaster arrived to-day. The Pennsylvania 12th and 13th will be paid Monday and mustered out Tuesday. Enlisting going on rapidly.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

Cairo, Aug. 6—10 P. M.

To-day has been characterized by two movements—a variation on the quiet programme for some weeks past—and both of these were by the Chicago troops. These movements were sending Col. McArthur, with a battallion of the 12th regiment to reinforce Col. Marsh at Cape Girardeau, and the removal of Capt. Smith's company A, Chicago Light Artilery from Camp Smith to a new location within the levee, near the Mississippi shore and adjacent to Col. McArthur's camp.

Advices from Col. Marsh last evening represent his position at Cape Girardeau immediately threatened by the near approach of a strong force of rebels under the command of the lesser-Jeff. of Missouri, and asking for reinforcements. Col. McArthur received orders to hold ready four companies of his 12th regiment, and to those were added four pieces of artillery. These embarked on the steamers Iatan and "B," at 7 a. m. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed among the new men, and very many of the discharged three months men, though paid off a day or two since, begged and obtained permission to be of the party. The force was thus increased, as also by the addition of the two more companies, to about 800 men. Forty-eight rounds of cartridges was served out to the men, and the steamers left amid great enthusiasm on board and on the levee. There was no mistaking the ardor of the boys to meet the enemy. There was not a particle of "flunk" visible among either officers or men; although confronted by the fact that the rebels were in superior force, even after this reinforcement should arrive.

The city has rang with rumors all day, giving all possible shades of the reported result at Cape Girardeau. But a gun steamer arriving here in the middle of the afternoon, reported Col. McArthur's arrival at the Cape and all quiet. A strong reinforcement of men, and a heavy field battery, was also sent down from the St. Louis arsenal, by Gen. Fremont, and unless they should be needed, Col. McArthur's detachment will return and resume their camp here.

Capt. Lattimer, of the seceded steamer "Cheney." has come back to-day, fully persuaded that he and the Illinois Central railroad, have that amount of investment in the Conthieverecy. The Cheney was seized last week and her return promised in four days. She is now at Memphis.

The "reliable gentleman" still continues to arrive here from the south several times a day, with startling reports from below; but of one thing be assured—that what the officers here know they learn from other and better sources, and do not notice their information with the public.

Col. Cook's 7th Illinois regiment broke up their camp at Mound City this morning and have gone into camp here.

The steamer Warsaw has been moved off the Ohio levee as a floating hospital, attached to Dr. Sim's brigade hospital, and under charge of Assistant Surgeon Burke. A new brick building, well located and airy, will soon be occupied by Dr. Sim.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

New York, Aug. 7.

The Tribune's dispatches state that the nominations of the New York delegation for brigadiers were not acted upon by the President last night.

Three companies of the 2d infantry, 237 men, arrived from Fort Abercrombie, Dacotah, via St. Paul, to which place they marched 300 miles. Many of them have been in service fifteen or twenty years.

A second detachment of twelve rifled cannon have arrived. There is much more artillery here now than we had before the forward movement was made.

Gov. Randall of Wisconsin has been confirmed as minister to Rome, and John P. Lovejoy of Iowa, brother of Owen Lovejoy, as consul to Callao.

Sen. Harlan has a dispatch to-night from Iowa, stating that rebels, in strong force, have taken a small town near Keokuk.

Brig. Gen. Rufus King of Wisconsin left Washington to-day to take command of the Wisconsin troops now in the department of Gen. Dix.

The report of Gen. McDowell, giving an official narrative of the campaign of the Potomac, has been completed, but will not be published until the return of Secretary Cameron.

Washington, Aug. 6.

World's Despatch.—An extensive alarm was caused across the Potomac during last night.

A countryman came in and reported that the enemy was approaching in large numbers.

Immediate preparations were made to give them a warm reception. Troops were active and determined and the time in which they got in line ready for action was very brief. The alarm proved to be false.

A prominent engineer connected with the New York Fire department has arrived here, and is endeavoring to make arrangements for the Fire Zouaves to remain in service for the time which they enlisted.

A man named Miner was arrested opposite Long Bridge to-day, with Beauregard's pass in his pocket.

Since the strict rules about the publication of army matters, the city it is said, has swarmed with spies.

To-night, an officer who is known to be in the confederate army was arrested at the National hotel.

Herald's Despatch.—News of the Union victory in Kentucky has arrived. There was the wildest enthusiasm here when it was announced in the house of representatives before its adjournment, by the venerable ex-Governor, Wickliffe, with the declaration that Kentucky was the first to be admitted into the Union after the adoption of the constitution, and would be the last to desert it.

Thunders of applause from the floor and galleries which shook even the solid walls. It was an outburst of patriotic feelings.

This great victory will be followed immediately by a special one not less magnificent.

There is at this moment 10,000 organized men in Kentucky, only waiting the accomplishment of this victory at the ballot-box to take the field and drive the rebel forces out of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Clay Legion is now ready to be mustered into service, and men are burning with a desire to aid their union neighbors in Tennessee, to free themselves from the despotism of Davis and mobocracy.

A gentleman who has recently been compelled to leave Vienna, states that the rebels have 10,000 men at that point and Falls Church, and that they are meditating an attack on Alexandria. He says he has mingled freely among their troops and confirms the statements that they had over 100,000 men at Bull Run and Manassas on the 21st. The estimate made of their killed in that engagement was 2,700, exclusive of wounded. They admitted that the slaughter on their side was double what it was on ours. It is reported that the wives of rebel soldiers state that their husbands are mining the road between Falls Church and Fairfax court house; and that they intend to connect the mines with small vials, filled with explosive materials; and that their main batteries in the direction of Manassas Junction have not yet been discovered by our troops.

From another source it is learned that ever since the occupation of Harper's Ferry by the rebels, a force of from 10,000 to 12,000 men have been engaged at Richmond in the manufacture of rifled cannon and ordnance, of various calibre. They are said to have turned out an immense number of cannon.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.

A report reached here that the enemy were advancing in 3 columns, with a force numbering 20,000 men. Gen. Lyon immediately set out to meet them with 2d and 3d Missouri regiments from here, and 4th and 2d Kansas, and 1st Iowa regiments, with 2 or 3 companies of regular cavalry from Camp McClellan, about 2 miles west of here. Lyon encamped that evening on Tyrrell Creek, and on Friday advanced to Dug Spring, about 19 miles southwest of Springfield, when he obtained intelligence of the enemy. The fight took place between 4 and 6 o'clock that P. M. A party of 270 of Lyon's cavalry met a party of the enemy, who as previously reported, were crossing a ridge of high land partially enclosed on the east by a valley, and when descending this came upon a large force of the enemy's infantry, variously estimated at from 2000 to 4000, and being unable to retreat, they charged and cut their way through with the loss of 5. The Lieut. commanding the cavalry was killed after killing 8 of the rebels. Meantime the enemy appeared in large numbers moving along the valley, but were put to flight by our artillery. Our infantry was not engaged. The rebels retreated southward to a place called McCulloch's store, on the Fayetteville road. The number of rebels found dead on field amounted to 40, and some 44 wounded were picked up. Gen. Lyon is said to be strongly entrenched in close proximity to the enemy. Another battle was expected.

It is said there is a body of some 5000 men 30 miles west of us, who are coming in to attack the town. In Gen. Lyon's absence, we have here 2 companies of the 3d Reg. Missouri volunteers, and about 700 or 800 home guards from the surrounding country, and 2 pieces of artillery. While I write 2 companies of home guards have just gone out to reconnoitre for the enemy from the west. We are waiting for them with confident hearts and strong arms, determined that they shall not take the town without a struggle. 4 or 5 batteries of rifled cannon of heavy calibre arrived by Ohio & Mississippi railroad to-day. Preparations being made to take them on board the government steamers.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.

The United States gun boat Flag arrived at Fort Mifflin this morning with thirty-six rebel prisoners, taken from a rebel war vessel, formerly the revenue cutter Aiken, seized at Charleston last winter. The Aiken fired at the St. Lawrence off Charleston, probably mistaking her for a merchant vessel, when the St. Lawrence returned a broadside, sinking the rebel. Five of her crew were lost, and the rest sedured and placed on board the Flag.

The navy department will at once issue proposals for the construction of the 10 side-wheel steamers and one or more iron clad vessels, recently authorized by congress.

Columbus, Aug. 6.

Hon. John C. Crittenden arrived this P. M., and made a highly patriotic speech this evening in Capitol Square, to a large and enthusiastic audience. He leaves for Cincinnati at 9 P. M. to-night.

Hundreds of people are coming to this state almost daily who have been driven out of Texas and Arkansas by the rebels.—They represent that if the federal government would send a force of arms to arm the people, more than one-half in both states would fight for the Union.—Dispatch.

It would seem as if the first duty of the government should be to furnish arms for the Union men in those border states, when they are in sufficient strength to protect themselves, for it is to them alone in the end that we must look, to uphold and keep in the Union, the states in which they reside. Foreign bayonets cannot do it. Therefore the imperative necessity of arming at once all Union men in the slave states who will aid in defending our common country.—Chicago Journal.

The method adopted in Missouri of appointing a committee of public safety in each county, who are made responsible for the defence of their locality, will be the most effective way. With such an organization, and plenty of arms and ammunition, the Union men in the slave states, can help themselves, which is far better than depending upon aid from the federal army.

Carl Schurz in Spain.—It was confidently asserted in many quarters, that Carl Schurz would not be received by the Spanish power as a representative from this country. We had seen no notice that he had been received, but the following from the Paris correspondent of the New York Times seems to be conclusive on the point: "The Moniteur publishes this morning the speeches made by Carl Schurz and the Queen of Spain, on the occasion of the reception by her Majesty of the American Minister. These speeches contain nothing remarkable beyond an apparent sincerity in the warm expressions of friendship of the two powers to each other. The length of the Queen's speech, however, as well as of that she delivered on the occasion of Mr. Preston's retirement, is quite unusual among European monarchs.

Gen. Rosecrans.—This gallant and accomplished officer is thus described by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Times:

Gen. Rosecrans is at Clarksburgh, and I must say that I never felt so much disappointed in any man in my life. There he stood with a miserable old blouse, of the very commonest material on, without a stitch indicative of his rank. The pants, sure enough, were of the very coarsest texture, and must have witnessed the affair at Rich Mountain. The shoes were common brogans, such as the soldiers wear, and must be at least three sizes too large for him. The cap was of a very coarse, miserable material. His flannel shirt was clean, but as coarse as a "high private's." In all, I took Gen. Rosecrans to be a "high private" who was very popular with the officers and men. He had a shake hands for everybody, and I noticed particularly that he had more to say to the men than the officers. Whenever his back was turned and out of hearing, the fellows would walk and say:

"That's the chap for you," "Won't he fight, eh?" "He's the bully boy," "Another round," "Just look at his eye, and you will be sure to see fight there."

Havelocks.—There is no necessity for making havelocks with ear-flaps. The back of the neck, extending down the spine, should be covered, but that is all. The immense hoods for which patterns have been numerously furnished, are useless and a failure. Cut them away at the sides; the fall protecting the neck is all that is wanted. So say all the authorities.

☞ The expenses of the government are now a million and a quarter per day.

The Scientific American says, wherever there is original genius, there will not be wanted occasions for its display, and then cites the case of Major Anderson, in Fort Sumter. The old traitorous Secretary of War had left a large number of shells, but without fuses.

Numbers of these shells intended for cannon firing were packed with powder, and common fuses containing percussion powder were placed in the holes. The wire of each fuse was then attached to a strong cord, and the shells were suspended carefully over the walls where they hung perfectly safe for action. By drawing the cord quickly—giving it a snap—the percussion powder of friction fuse became ignited, and the shell exploded. Had a storming party attacked the fort at night, these shells wo'd have scattered death and destruction among their ranks.

Failure of Claflin, Mellen & Co.—We announced on Saturday the failure of this celebrated house—the largest house in the United States. We understand some 60 days ago that the house was compelled to ask of the banks a loan of $3,000,000 to save them then. This was done and security taken to save the banks. We hear that their liabilities are $8,000,000. Their assets of course must also be enormous, but in the present state of the country largely unavailable.

MANUFACTURE OF FLOUR IN JANESVILLE.—The number of barrels of flour reported to the assessors of this city as manufactured at the different mills in this city is 208,000. Calculating five bushels of wheat to a barrel of flour, the amount of wheat ground is 1,040,000 bushels. This will do for a "backwoods town."

HOPE IT IS SO.—It is rumored that the Rothchilds have tendered the United States government a loan of $250,000,000.

ACCIDENT.—A child, eight years of age, of Mr. Loveland's, on Jordan Prairie, had his leg badly mangled in the gearing of a reaper, last Monday, in the harvest field.—It is though it will be necessary to amputate it close to the body.

UTAH INDIAN SUPERINTENDENCY.—The Madison Journal says: We hear that the office of Indian superintendent of Utah has been conferred on Hon. Walter D. McIndoe of this state. The appointment is a highly satisfactory one. Mr. McIndoe is well known in the state as a competent business man, while his character for integrity and fair dealing is well established.

THE HOT WEATHER AND THE ARMY WORM.—The Wisconsin says: We learn from a farmer in this county, that the intense heat of the past week has killed or driven away the army worm. Fields that were infested with them on Monday, the 29th ult., were free from them on Saturday, the 3d of August. If this should turn out to be the case in other sections of the state—the tropical heat was an excellent good thing.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last night a resident of the town of Magnolia, named Bishop, died at the house of Isaac Cronk, in the town of Janesville. He was passing along the road in a wagon, and stopped to converse with Mr. Cronk. While in conversation he became a good deal excited, and and commenced bleeding from the lungs. The bleeding was stopped for a time, and he was taken into the house of Mr. C. for care. After being in the house for some time, the bleeding again commenced and he expired in a few minutes.

THE NATURAL DESOLATION OF SECESSION.—The secessionists, like the Indians and Sepoys, burn and destroy whatever they touch. The St. Louis Democrat relates the following peculiarly hard case of the robbery of a good citizen who is in attendance at a legislative body originally called by the secession party of Missouri:

Mr. Leeper, one of the members of the convention from the south-east, has had the misfortune, during his absence at Jefferson City, to lose all his oxen, horses, wagons, grain and family stores, at the hands of the secession army which passed through his county.

☞ The Pioneer says that a party lately fished in the Oconto river, and in the space of three or four hours caught 427 trout. A trout was caught in White Fish river, which, after being dressed, salted and smoked, weighed 2 lbs. and 15 ounces and was 19 inches long.

OUR WOUNDED VOLUNTEERS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, in an account of a visit to the army hospital, makes a good report of the spirit of some of the wounded men of the Wisconsin Second. He says:

Most of the wounds are very slight, and with good treatment, are rapidly healing. The men speak freely and often with enthusiasm, of their part in the terrible fighting; and with scarce an exception, seem anxious to again encounter the enemy.

In one ward a member of the Wisconsin Second appealed to his fellows to know whether they were not desirous to renew the contest with the rebels. A prompt and hearty response in the affirmative came from every one. The spirit of our brave Wisconsin volunteers is in nowise broken by the untoward results of Sunday. They lament with unfeigned sincerity, the repulse of our arms, but they are eager to meet and determined to crush out the secession hosts. For them the star spangled banner has lost none of its charms, and a temporary defeat is but an incitement to renewed exertions in its defence.

A large portion of the patients at both the Georgetown hospitals are from the 79th (Highland) regiment and the Wisconsin Second, and I am convinced that in the various reports of the battles of these regiments have not been given the credit they richly deserve.

Of the gallant western boys no laudation can be overwrought. Among the first in the field and the last to retreat, they spilled their blood like water, and made a precious sacrifice for the honor of the flag under which their noble state has attained a high rank and influence in the republic.

The governor of the state and the truly chivalric Congressman Potter, are busily engaged in providing for every want of the wounded, and their presence is a great satisfaction to all who tasted their unaffected kindness.

WISCONSIN TROOPS.—Five companies of the fourth Wisconsin regiment, under command of Col. Payne, have arrived at Washington. The comfortable reception quarters at the depot, constructed under the direction of Commissioner Wood, afford a great relief to the weary soldiers on arrival. They are not only provided with sleeping berths, but the appliances for bathing, and something substantial for the stomach. This arrangement is a decided improvement on the early receptions, and will tend to remove the unfavorable impressions heretofore existing.—National Intelligencer. 1st.

Letters from the Janesville Volunteers.

CAMP CORCORAN, July 29th, '61.

FRIEND SARGENT AND NO. 2 BOYS:—I received your letter in due time, and having a little spare time, I thought I would answer it. We are all pretty well, nothing to boast of, but hope you are all sound, wind and limb. Henry, we have had some pretty hard fighting since we left Janesville. The boys as a general thing did well; if the officers had done as well as the men, we could have told a different story. It was pretty tough to see horses and riders, artillery and infantry, literally mown down like grass. After the first fire, I thought of nothing but going in on my nerve; but I will leave the boys to decide that. I am satisfied that I got both principal and interest on that old secesh debt of mine, and balanced accounts on the old plan of tare and tret. I could compare the battle to nothing but one continual storm of hail. Wherever you would cast your eye, you could see the mutilated body of a soldier. The Zouaves would cut and carve as unconcerned as if they were at a Thanksgiving dinner. In a charge, one of the Zouaves stuck his bayonet into the body of a secesher nearly splitting him in two. I merely speak of this as showing the style of these red-cap gents. The enemy have a little antipathy against them for some reason or other, which is better known among themselves: however, they always meet with a warm reception. The Zouaves are the most efficient troops the United States can boast of. This, any friends of the Janesville Fire Zouaves, you may think is touching your case. I mean it shall, for I know there are just as good men in Janesville as ever came from New York; all you want is a little warming up. Aside from the boys, the Janesville folks are my best hold, as Brother Blood says.

This is hardly the place to be collected, as one moment there will be rations wanted, guard to mount, soap to get for one of the boys, who, after wearing his shirt six weeks, is foolish enough to think it would do it good to get a soaking. I just had to drop my pencil to go and see a fight between a couple of Co. I's boys. They finally agreed to call it a draw game, take dinner, and go in again after dinner. Another fuss just now: a pot of bran soup upset; nobody did it—at least, they all say so,—and so it goes from morning till night. My friends, pencil cannot portray the beauties of camp life. I am sitting by the side of a boy who reported himself sick this morning. You ought to see his operative machanery masticate rations, which are preferable to castor oil and jalap.

I almost forgot to give you Lieut. McLean's compliments. He came off a hard guard this morning. The enemy are sneaking around; sentinels are being picked off pretty fast, so that we cannot tell at night who will draw our rations in the morning. You ought to see an alarm in camp—say about midnight. "Such a getting up stairs you never did see." We live in a constant state of excitement, which serves to drive away the blues. We often look down on the capital and its inhabitants, and think they can have no sport shut up in the city, while we are allowed the privilege, if you can call it so, of walking almost any place within half a mile of camp. We would like to go over to Washington and speak a word of consolation to the citizens, but that has played out. None but the good Lord and General Scott know where we will be sent next. I think we will stay here for a short time to recruit.

The Janesville mail has just arrived.—Right there over that dry-goods box you will see the boys pulling and hauling to get their letters. We just happened to have a shower of rain; thought I would look around to see if I could hear any news; missed a man in the rain storm; thought I would look over the quartermaster's old quarters to see if I could find him; saw a couple of barrels move a little; could not see any persons near; then gave the barrels a smart kick, and out rolls the lost boy. I marched him up to the tent called the Toombs, and left him to meditate on the next improvement. I write five minutes, then have to jump up and run for something, and so it goes. I had to swear just now: one of the boys tipped over my boards which I was writing on. I called him a —— fool. He appeared to be satisfied, and walked on, so there was no chance for an argument. My compliments to John, my son, also the rest of my family. Write soon, and give me all the particulars, as a letter from Janesville is received with much pleasure. Yours truly,

GEO. F. SAUNDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS, 5TH REGIMENT W. V.,
McKEIM'S MANSION, BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.

FRIEND GIBBS:—You will observe that we have changed our position somewhat. On Tuesday last we received orders to strike tents at 3 o'clock next morning and start. We knew not whether we were going to Washington or Harper's Ferry, and I reckon from the sequel that no one else knew. But to our trip.

We had our tents struck at the time ordered, but through the negligence or mismanagement of the officers of the railroad company, we were compelled to stand, sit or lie beneath a sweltering sun until 3 o'clock, P. M., at which time, through the efforts of our officers, we got started—most of the regiment being in open cars. We ran about forty miles and stopped; we kept stopping until 5 o'clock the next morning. During the night those in the open cars received a bountiful supply of fresh water in the shape of rain, it having rained most of the time, making it particularly interesting. We got started again, and kept along at easy stages. As soon as we crossed the line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, we found at every bridge on the road, squads of the 4th Wisconsin regiment stationed to protect the bridges. The cheering done by the Badgers would have done you good to have heard.

We finally arrived at Baltimore at half-past 9, A. M., formed the regiment, one-half of the Zouaves on the right and the other half on the left, (that being the only company having arms,) and marched across the city to the Camden depot, a distance of about one and a half miles. We were somewhat disappointed in our march, for who would have expected that a regiment of federal soldiers, without arms, could pass through Baltimore without a fight, or at least receiving insults? We did, however. We waited at the depot until 6 P. M., expecting orders from Washington to either proceed to that place or Harper's Ferry. At that time we got orders (but they were from Gen. Dix,) to go into camp at this place. We re-formed once more and marched between three and four miles across the city, in the same order as in the morning, to the camping ground. We got our tents pitched about 10 o'clock.

We had the pleasure of seeing a street fight with pistols; it occurred just as our company were passing. The boys paid no attention to it. I have no doubt but that our success in marching through the streets without getting into a fight was owing entirely to the orderly conduct of our men.

While at the depot we were constantly furnished with ice water by Messrs. Robinson, Graham & Jarboe. These gentleman have supplied over one hundred thousand soldiers who have passed through this place going to the wars or returning, with water, the government having made no provision whatever in that respect. Mr. Jarboe informed me that the Union and secession men here are about equally divided, and that they have received all manner of insults and threats. They have also established a hospital for such soldiers as are taken sick here and left behind.

I believe there are encamped in and around this place, about 15,000 men. The city is under martial law, as you probably know, Gen. Dix being in command. There are two or three secession papers printed here—will send you some as soon as I get hold of them.

We are placed under the strictest rules here, being surrounded by the seceshers on all sides. Our camp is in the eighth ward, the worst in the city, the inhabitants being mostly secessionists.

There are about twenty men in the hospital, all but two of them being down with cholera morbus—or some other morbus. Having been poked with pastry since they started, they are now paying the penalty of their foolishness.

I am unable to say, with any certainty, what our destination will be, but think from present appearances we shall summer here. I hope, at least, that we shall get our arms before we are moved again, as it dangerous to run around loose, as we are doing, without something to protect ourselves with. Major Larrabee is in Washington attending to the matter, and we are in hopes of being placed in a position to do a little for our country.

Supper is ready, and I must stop for this time. Yours, etc.,

H. R. CLUM.

CAMP COBB, Baltimore, August 2d, 1861.

DEAR GAZETTE:—We left Harrisburg on the afternoon of the 31st ult., and were soon under way for Baltimore by way of the N. C. R. R. We were to have departed by five in the morning, but as a locomative was off the track between Harrisburg and this place, we had to wait until that could be cleared away. We rode in freight cars, some of which were platform and others box cars. The platform cars had planked sides about fifteen inches high, and plank seats nailed across them. The box cars had holes cut in their sides and ends for windows, and had plank seats. We were put in, or rather on the open cars, and thus had plenty of air, hot sunshine, coal cinders and smoke, and a good view of the country. We went that day as far as York, where we slept on the cars all night; and although it rained hard, we slept very well. Early in the morning we went on, and soon were in this slumbering secession volcano. All along the road until we arrived here, we were well received by the people: as we went through villages, cheer after cheer of the people shook the air, and blessings, apples and boquets were showered upon us without stint. The greatest display we met with was at the Union Cotton Mills, near this city.—There are about 800 girls employed there, and the whole front of the mills was decorated with Union flags, and sweet, smiling faces greeted us from every window and doorway. Perhaps we did not cheer them, but I think we did; at any rate, I tried my lungs to the best of my ability. When we arrived here we were not allowed to cheer at all, and all the return we could make for the flags waved over us, was the military smile and salute. As we passed along several streets, we were well received, and the exclamation, "That's a good, hardy looking set of men," was heard in many places, and eager Union men ran to ask where we were from. In some places I heard the sneer of the rebels as we filed past their houses, and the cry, "See the foes of America," was heard where there were no police around.

We arrived here about 10 A. M., and expected to leave in about two hours for Washington or Harper's Ferry, but for some reason, I know not what, we did not go; and after waiting until sundown, we received orders to fall in and march out to camp.—We had to march through the blackest portion of the city on our way here, and for more than one mile of our way, we did not see a Union flag; and as we came past one house, a Union man and a rebel got into a quarrel about us, and one shot was fired, but no one hurt. The rebel called us all cowards and d—d sons of——well, I will not tell what; but the Union man told him not to use such talk there, and pushed him off the sidewalk. The rebel raised his pistol and fired, but no one could return it, as we were too near for it. As we marched past the Washington monument, we all reverently raised our caps, and the band played a slow step.

The new police are very active, and any attempt to raise a row, on the part of any one, is promptly stopped. The old police are to be seen around with heads down and looking like the breaking up of a hard winter. Until yesterday the police have allowed no one in the depot but soldiers when a train of them came in, and thus all has been kept quiet. A few of those who were known were allowed in yesterday, and among them I saw a young man by the name of Sparawk, whom I used to know in Janesville. He tells me that secession has killed the business of the city, except that of the flour and cotton mills. He says the rebels here are the aristocracy and the low, drunken Irish, and the Unionists are the working men who are in comfortable circumstances.

When we crossed the state line we found five companies of the 4th Wisconsin guarding the railroad from there to this place. We passed over two bridges which had been destroyed by the rebels and rebuilt by the government. Capt. Lagrange, of the Ripon Rifles, was well situated, having the guard of a long piece of the road.

The boys are nearly all well, and those sick are not dangerous, but are sick with the measles or are tired out. We left four sick at Harrisburg, among whom are Platt, Johnson, Warner, and one or two others.

All that keeps this place quiet is the fact that the whole town could be laid flat by Fort McHenry in a few hours and the troops situated near here. The commanding officer here will not allow any negroes in the camp to remain there, except those who are servants of the officers. Capt. Wheeler has one "contraband" who glorifies under the appellation of Geo. Washington.

The place where we are encamped is a high hill, dry and airy, and we have plenty of wood, good water, and good clean food, and men can live and fight, too, upon such fare as that. Sergeant Mills says he is the happiest man in the whole camp, and I believe him. Sergeant Cutts is a fat and jolly as ever, and no one can be lonely where his jolly, broad face is to be seen.

The daughter of the regiment, Miss Wilson, is with us tending on the sick, and those who have been sick say her visits to those on the sick list are not few or far between.

I nearly forgot to tell you that the papers speak of us as one of the best regiments which has been through here, and they say the last troops are all the best.

As I sit and write by the side of company E's camp chest, I see a balloon ascending from Fort McHenry for the purpose of seeing what is to be seen.

I have omitted to tell you that the farm where we are is owned by one McKeim, a rank secessionist, who has left for parts better suited to his feelings. The field officers are in possession of his house, which is very large; the hospital is there, also. We are not allowed to use any food brought to us by those around us, as they tried to poison one regiment which has been here.

I must close, as I have to get dinner; and if this letter lacks systematic arrangement, you must not be surprised, as I have been left in the orderly's tent to answer the thousand and one questions asked by every one. Braithwaite was left by accident at Little York night before last, but I think he will come up with the 6th regiment.

Yours in haste,

J. M. KIMBALL.

P. S.—I have forgotten to tell you, for the benefit of the ladies, that, without joking, the Union ladies here are by far the best looking, and one of them ran out and gave our color bearer a red, white and blue wreath to be put on our color standard, and we carry it there.

COMMERCIAL.

Janesville Wholesale Market.

Reported for the Janesville Gazette, BY BUMP & GRAY. GRAIN AND PRODUCE DEALERS.

JANESVILLE, AUGUST 7, 1861.

There were was no receipts of wheat on the market to-day, consequently we have no transactions to report, though had there been any wheat in prices would probably have ruled firm, as millers are short and would pay full prices rather than stop the mills. The recent favorable advices from the lake shore and eastern markets would also tend to strengthen prices. Receipts will continue to be very light until the new crop begins to come forward, which will be within the next three weeks, then we may look for busy times again, as there is plenty of wheat and of good quality, and should prices remain steady farmers would rush it forward rather than hold it for higher figures, as they did last fall.

We make up prices as follows:

WHEAT—good to extra milling spring 65a70, currency; fair to good dry shipping 55a62½; rejected 30a 50. The above figures are for currency, a deduction of 5 and 8c per bushel is made payable in gold.

CORN—16a18 per 60 lbs. shelled, and 14a16c per 72 lbs., ear.

OATS—good local and shipping demand at 14a15.

RYE—quiet at 20a25c per 60 lbs.

BARLEY—dull sale at 15a25a per 50 lbs., common to good quality.

TIMOTHY SEED—dull at 1,40a1,75 per 46 lbs.

POTATOES—plenty and very dull at 10a35c. pur

BUTTER—plenty at 10a12½c fair to choice roll.

EGGS—plenty and dull at 8c per dozen.

WOOL—ranges at 15a27c for common to choice fair clean clips.

HIDES—Green, 2½a3; Dry, 5a7.

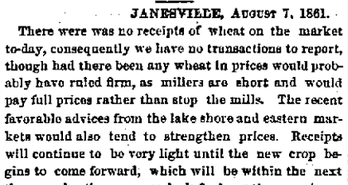

FLOUR—spring at retail 2,25, per 100 lbs.

POULTRY—dressed turkeys, 6½a7; chickens, 5a6

SHEEP PELTS—range from 30c@90 each.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well-calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - - $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

McKey & Bro.'s July Circular.

OF

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March

HAS DOUBLED

that of former years, for the same period; all owing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the

Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

in the United States, consisting of

MERRIMACK, COCHECO, PHILLIP ALLEN'S, SPRAGUES

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also,

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

Received this day 50 Bales of

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About

10,000 Yards of Lawns

on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

OUR STOCK OF

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

We have now open and ready for inspection between 3000 and 5000

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Erminettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Toile De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Bereges and many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

It is now conceded that McKey & Bro.'s Clothing House is the place to get Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

Boots and Shoes

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming

Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.
